New Post Office for Appleton Approved

The Post Office Department in Washington has formally announced that a new post office will be built in Appleton. Sen. Gaylord Nelson informed The Post-Crescent today.

The new facility will be built under the lease-purchase program, Sen. Nelson said. No decision has been made yet on site or the amount of floor space it will contain, and announcement of these details will follow. He said it would probably be next spring before the project can get underway.

Space Estimates
According to estimates, a proposed new building would contain anywhere from 35,000 to 60,000 square feet, or possibly more, Appleton Postmaster Francis Sumnicht said. The present building contains 21,000 square feet under postal use, with only 10,000 on the first floor.

"We are packed to the gills," Sumnicht added.

Chamber and other city officials have been in contact with postal officials in Minneapolis and Washington, D.C. for several years on the matter. Also contacted several times were Nelson and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay.

43 Americans Die In Fire on Carrier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — President Johnson's surprise visit to South Vietnam today was marred by the death of 43 Americans in a fire on the carrier USS Oriskany off the North Vietnamese coast today.

The Oriskany, now on its second tour in Viet Nam waters, was returning to Subic Bay, men, and putting the ship out of action, an American spokesman announced. Sixteen other men were injured seriously.

The fire started a few hours before President Johnson made a flying visit to the big U.S. base at Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon. Then he flew back to Manila.

The fire broke out shortly after dawn in a locker containing flares used for night illumination and rescue work.

Below Flight Deck
The flames erupted on the hangar deck, just below the flight deck, and then spread rapidly to envelope five decks, the Navy said.

Two helicopters were destroyed by the blaze and an unaccounted number of A-1E Skyhawk jet fighter-bombers were damaged.

The Navy also reported extensive damages to ceilings and bulkheads of the 42,000-ton carrier, in the Gulf of Tonkin with two other U.S. carriers to

Cutting Soaring School Costs Major Worry of State Chiefs

University Systems Asked to Name Least Important Projects

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's two university systems, ordered to pinpoint what programs they need least, faced the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education today as it considered a $312.8 million budget proposal.

The recommended level of spending for the 1967-68 period is practically the same as proposed by the CCHE's Finance Subcommittee about two weeks ago.

The total budgets for Wisconsin's four higher educational systems skyrocketed to $602.9 million. The difference above the state taxpayer's share is paid by student fees, gifts and grants, athletic income and other sources.

Recommended Cut
The report of the subcommittee to the CCHE recommended it cut the budget of the University of Wisconsin from the $205.5 million requested to $189.9 million. The nine state universities asked for $112.7 million and got subcommittee approval for $107.3 million.

Instruction Department Budget Hiked

MADISON (AP) — The State Superintendent of Public Instruction submitted today a budget $62.1 million more than the present spending level, but he said it probably will be shy of the amount needed to hold down local taxes.

William Kahl presented a total request of $372.1 million to the Finance Subcommittee and today's action help support elementary and was in the area of improved programs for the UW and the 1967-68 biennium. The State Department of Administration now will review the budget for the governor, who will probably of $14.5 million for UW and make his recommendation to the Legislature in late January or early February.

Federal Grants
Wisconsin's taxpayer would pay for about $307.7 million of the total. Federal grants would contribute the remaining $64.4 million.

Kahl pointed out that 96.5 percent, or $359.2 million, would be earmarked as shared aids and scholarships for local school districts. This is a boost of $59.9 million over the present level.

The department currently has an operating budget of $309.9 million, with $257.3 million coming from the public pocket.

School districts will still be confronted with costs outrunning the revenues from shared aids, even though $59.9 million higher, and local taxes, Kahl said.

Local Needs
Kahl estimated localities would need about $10 million to $12 million more during the two-year period than they would receive from the state and their own taxes.

A Legislative Council committee is studying the state aid formula for shared school taxes, and Kahl said proposals will probably be introduced in the 1967 session that would revise

College Sold At Auction In California

UPLAND, Calif. (AP) — For the last time, an Upland College official pronounced a prayer in the school's small wooden chapel.

The 150 persons crowding the church ignored the hymnals. They were waiting for the next speaker.

"750—Who say 750? Okay 650, who say 650?" chanted the next speaker, auctioneer Marsh Dozar. Silence greeted his question.

The bidding began on Upland College, an 11-acre liberal arts school run by the Brethren in Christ Church for 46 years in this small town 45 miles east of Los Angeles.

The auctioneer claimed it was the first auction of an entire college.

The college, its new $300,000 dormitory, gymnasium, athletic field, classrooms, administration building and their furnishings, went to the Salvation Army for $325,000. It says it will use it for an educational and conference center.

The college trustees still have until Friday to change their minds and accept a bid from others, such as the Bible Standard College of Eugene, Ore., which offered $475,000.

The trustees decided to sell the school last year because of declining financial support, a spokesman said.

Budget Proposed To Erase Poverty

NEW YORK (AP) — A. Philip Randolph, civil rights leader, today proposed a massive "Freedom Budget" designed to wipe out poverty in the United States by 1975.

The plan calls for increasing the federal budget from the present $112.8 to $155 billion within nine years, a $2 hourly minimum wage, setting up a guaranteed income program for persons who cannot get jobs, and increasing investments in education, housing, vocational training and health services.

Powell Again Found Guilty Of Contempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, found guilty of civil contempt of court for the third time, has been sentenced to 30 days in jail and a $250 fine if he doesn't produce a financial statement for a panel of judges by next Thursday.

But the new court ruling, stemming from the Harlem Democratic congressman's refusal to pay a $164,000 libel judgment, may not subject Powell to arrest even if he ignores it.

The civil contempt warrant can be served only within New York and Powell has avoided entering the state under the similar terms of two previous rulings.

The Appellate Division, the state's second highest court, set aside a Sept. 9 decision by a State Supreme Court justice holding that Powell was innocent of wilful failure to furnish an accounting of his finances.

The litigation centers around a defamation of character judgment against Powell after he called Esther James of Harlem a "bag woman," or payoff collector for police, on a 1960 television show.

Coed Would Go to Viet Nam

She'd Rather Fight Than Stitch

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Jennifer Johnson is attractive, 21, blonde, and she wants to be a combat soldier in Viet Nam.

"I'm willing to die," she says.

Jennifer is auditing her seventh and eighth military science courses in the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the University of Washington. A student who audits a course attends class and does the required work but does not receive credit.

Requests Passport
She has written to the State Department requesting a passport for Viet Nam as soon as possible, but has received no response.

"I've been interested in general warfare for as long as I can remember," she says. "People are always pushing girls into the WAC or nursing when they want to help the country, but that doesn't interest me. I really want to do my part."

Jennifer Johnson

What do her 99 male classmates in the ROTC think?

Not On Battlefield

Phil Boshaw, who has been in a number of classes with Jennifer, says: "They could be a great help in the Army as far as nursing or office work might go, but a woman's place is not on the battlefield."

Miss Johnson, a junior, has taken courses in military tactics, map reading, military history, the use of Army communication equipment, and riflsmanship.

"No one has any objection to a girl auditing military science classes as long as her interest is a sincere one," said Capt. Orin Phipps, one of her current instructors.

Texas Labor Supports Neither Senate Hopeful

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two million votes is the magic figure in the Texas race for the U.S. Senate.
"I think Mr. Waggoner Carr is in trouble if he doesn't get at least a two-million turnout," says Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO which is backing neither Democrat Carr nor Republican John G. Tower, seeking re-election to the Senate seat once held by Lyndon B. Johnson.
"With 1.6 or 1.7 million voters, we've got it won," says a Republican campaign official.
"With two million we've still got a good chance."

Employment Figures Leave Some Loopholes

BY SYLVIA PORTER
There are now, says the jobless?
Bureau of Labor Statistics' There are today, says the latest tally 2,573,000 unemployed BLS. 74,251,000 employed Americans. But included in this count. But hidden in this figure are 68,000 14 and 15-year olds. 80,000 job trainees under workers — whose skills are the Manpower Development and Training Act. Should these this time of growing skill groups properly be counted as shortages. Shouldn't there be employment - unemployment statistics. Some time early next year a new, revised and much sharper system is scheduled to go into operation throughout the U.S. Specifically, the BLS is now:

The BLS tells us each month how many workers can't find jobs. But it tells us nothing about job offers these workers have turned down for one reason or another. It also tells us nothing about how many "labor force dropouts" there are, those who have given up even looking for work and who therefore are a more serious unemployment problem than those who are still looking.

Never before have our employment - unemployment statistics been watched so closely for indications of both labor shortages and labor surpluses in waiting to start a job within 30 days of the week of the BLS survey. Never before have our employment figures been so crucial to policy. The formation of federal money for a new definition of unemployment, tax and manpower policies, and to the attitudes of businessmen and labor unions surveys are underway which may lead to major changes in goals of using each individual's skills and capacities fully for unemployment answers.

Porter

showing us where and what jobs are looking for workers — is openly acknowledged as a dangerous gap. The fact that any worker who is pattern may drastically differ from that of the nation: the benefit of society as well as for the benefit of each worker until we know why as well as whether a worker is unemployed. Because we have been asking some of the right employment questions, we may finally come up with some of the right answers.

Reprimanded Officer Again Will Fly Test Ship, XB70A Bomber

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An officer who was reprimanded after the crash of a giant XB70A bomber June 8 is scheduled to be at the controls when its sister ship takes to the air next week.

He is Col. Joseph Cotton, XB70A test force director, who has flown both planes many times. He was observing from a T38 chase jet when the more successful of the two 2,000-mile-an-hour experimental craft and an F104 chase jet collided on a commercial picture-taking flight, killing two men.

Chase planes again will be in the air when the remaining XB70A flies Nov. 1, some of them taking pictures and some flying near its triangular wings.

Mayor Backs Cuts In School Board Budget Requests

Buckley Critical of Reasoning Offered by School Board Head

Mayor George Buckley today made a strong defense of the $300,000 cut in the board of education's 1967 budget this week by the council's finance committee. He not only fired a volley of critical shots at Charles Buchanan Jr., board president, but also hit on the board's past school construction policies. Buchanan's reaction to the budget cut Tuesday included a remark, "How could they do this to the children of Appleton?" Buckley noted. "Short Memory" Buckley inferred that Buchanan had a short memory by not recalling what happened several months ago on the new high school project. "He (Buchanan) forgets the budget committee didn't do anything to the children of Appleton except to supply them with the plushiest schools in Wisconsin, including 'The Silo' on the southeast side of town," Buckley declared. Buckley charged the new Appleton East High school would be "The most expensive school in the nation when the cost per pupil is figured."

Nelson Praises President's War on Poverty

Job Corps Has Been Particularly Effective, Senator Says in Talk

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., today praised the federal government's work in setting up the Job Corps and other aspects of the war on poverty.

Nelson spoke to an Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce group after a breakfast arranged by Outagamie County.

Nelson Gets His Cities Mixed Up

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, in his announcement today of Appleton's new post office, inadvertently referred to it as "a new post office for Green Bay."

Reminded that this was Appleton, Nelson said, "Did I say Green Bay? Well, we'll get them one, too."

Green Bay, as Nelson well realized, has one of the most modern federal buildings in the state, a facility built in 1959 near the heart of the city.

Democrats at Alex's Manor

There have been more attacks on the poverty program by politicians, newspapers and writers than on any other program," Nelson said. "But I consider this to have been a dramatic accomplishment of the administration."

Nelson explained that the Job Corps portion of the program has been especially effective in getting a certain segment of the nation's youth into permanent jobs. This "fabric of society," he said, has been neglected but, because of Job Corps, thousands of young boys and girls are

Outagamie Board Seeks Sale Of County Farm Property

Proposed Resolutions to Seek Halt to All Dairy Operations

Dairy farm operations at the Outagamie County Hospital would end this year if supervisors approve a resolution presented to the county board's executive committee this morning.

The resolution, which was referred back to the agriculture and conservation committee for re-drafting, called for a discontinuance of all farm operations at the hospital and the subsequent auctioning of related property.

The recommendation was made after study by the health, education and institutions committee, the agriculture committee and county hospital officials and trustees.

However, following considerable discussion this morning, executive committee members acted to change the resolution to provide for a discontinuance of dairy farming and allow the maintenance of steers.

Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna supervisor and chairman of the county's health committee, said that as he understands it, the hospital officials now want only to "get out of the dairy business."

Appleton Supv. Patrick Mares pointed out that the resolution day as submitted, would put the hospital completely out of the farm business.

George Kroes, rural Kaukauna supervisor, told the executive committee the resolution was prompted by a budget request of $7,000 for farm machinery at the hospital.

Mares said that although the hospital farm might be losing money, the purpose of its

Curfew Issue Gets Tossed To Recreation Commission

Should a curfew ordinance be put into effect in Appleton's municipal parks?

A decision will be made soon at a joint meeting of the council's public safety committee and the park-recreation commission.

This was indicated Tuesday afternoon when members of the public safety committee declined to commit themselves to a park curfew.

Seeks Decision Ald. John Ayers (12th), who recently introduced a resolution proposing a 9 p.m. curfew for parks only, said he wants to "have the thing hashed out once it was too general and would not apply to the park vandalism situation."

Ayers and other committee members were generally agreed the Appleton does not need a citywide curfew. However, they are disturbed over park vandalism.

Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) advocated bringing the park curfew matter to the attention of the council at a committee of the whole meeting but was turned down.

Possible Enforcement Whether it would be possible to enforce a park curfew during the winter months when there are no skating activities was a question raised by Ald. R. P. Groh (16th).

Ayers said it was not intended to enforce the proposed park curfew in instances where supervised activities are underway.

He said Police Chief Earl O. Wolff favored a park curfew. The city has an all-encompassing anti-loitering ordinance which applies to persons on public streets and places after 11 p.m. However, Ayers thought

Judge Delays Migrant Camp Court Trials

Attorneys Requested To Submit Written Briefs for Study

Green Lake County Judge David C. Willis this morning adjourned for 20 days a hearing on points of law concerning construction of a migrant labor camp in the Town of Grand Chute. The hearing lasted one hour.

Judge Willis, after hearing attorneys representing Stokely-Van Camp Inc., Town of Grand Chute and Outagamie County, allowed the 20-day period for the preparation of attorney's written briefs.

This morning's hearing was called by Judge Willis as a prelude to Outagamie County Court trials on three complaints pending since early July. Two complaints filed by the town charge the cannery and a contractor, Don Calmes, of working on construction of the labor camp without building permits. A third and similar charge was filed against Stokely's by Outagamie County.

Two Writs Filed The trials were originally scheduled for hearing before Judge Gustave J. Keller. They were transferred to Judge Urban P. VanSusteren's court after a writ of prejudice was filed against Judge Keller.

Judge Willis was called to conduct the proceedings after another writ of prejudice was filed against Judge VanSusteren.

Points of law argues this morning included the propriety of Grand Chute's municipal code. Attorney John Esler, representing the cannery, ar-

She is expected to appear in court at 9:30 a.m. Monday to answer the charges.

Trailer Park Gets First City License

19-Year-Old Mobile Home Court Must Meet Standards by Jan. 1

The first licensing of a mobile home court, governed by a two-year-old ordinance, was granted Tuesday evening by the city council's welfare and ordinance committee, with stipulations that must be met by Jan. 1.

The permit was granted to Mrs. Lydia Liebert, 734 W. Wisconsin Ave., for a trailer park operated at that location.

The court, established in 1947 when the area was in the Town of Grand Chute, is non-conforming.

Committee members agreed to present setback lines due to the long-time existence of the court. According to John Liebert, representing his mother, the present arrangement of the park was through a verbal agreement with the city.

Does Not Conform

The ordinance requires each unit in a park to have a 1,000 square foot area with a 30 foot frontage on an existing driveway. The licensed park does not conform to the regulation.

The park at the present time contains 14 units, due to the arrangement of two existing buildings on the property. To comply with the ordinance, "The park's occupancy would be reduced to three trailers," Liebert said.

When the park opened, Mrs. Liebert said, 22 trailers were accommodated, and with the increase in trailer size the total has been reduced to 14.

A license request had been previously made by the owner; however, the check was returned when the park failed to meet the city's specifications.

A Year to Comply

Ald. Glen Thompson (13th) committee chairman said, the property should be licensed immediately and the owner given a year to comply to standards.

Liebert told the committee she was a member of long standing in the Mobile Homes Association and it was a strong desire of the organization to establish and continually increase the desirability of the courts.

The committee agreed to grant the license, which is renewable Jan. 1, and at that time make an inspection of the park to be certain the city's requirements have been met.

The committee agreed to forgo the setback regulations and allow the court to operate as a non-conforming business.

Other Action

In other action, the committee approved drafting a cat ordinance which will require licensing of all cats five months old.

Approved a request of Merton Ehrke, welfare director, to attend a Milwaukee conference.

Referred bartenders' license requests for further study.

Co-Op Asks No Compromise on Colored Oleo

PMPC's Affeldt Says Let State Legislature Decide

FOND DU LAC — "Attempts to buy votes by lowering the standards to accept substitute for dairy products 'can be taken as nothing other than pure brainwashing by this convention,'" Paul Affeldt, president of Pure Milk Products Cooperative, told delegates to the annual meeting here Tuesday.

Affeldt aimed his barbs specifically as oleo and acknowledged the dairy industry "still had a job on our hands" regarding it.

"With labor union officials and politicians professing to be the friend of the family sized farmer . . . but still advertising and soliciting for the vote of the small farmer by telling him that limitations are necessary to woo the future votes of consumers is hogwash," Affeldt charged.

"The laboring man is a consumer the same as the family-size farmer," he said.

Possibility Recognized

The president, however, recognized the possibility of future state legislation favoring the entry of colored oleo into Wisconsin. He said, "It would be much better to lose the imitation battle by fighting for what we feel is right rather than listen to the whims of those that would seek to woo you today and completely forget you tomorrow."

Affeldt said the issues should be decided in the legislature and not by political candidates.

The president also called for cheese import hearings stressing quality and identification.

Disagreement Costs

The disagreement between co-ops on a proposed federal milk order for Chicago has been costly to producers, he said. He urged support for Federated Cooperative in seeking accord.

Affeldt also stressed continued advertising of dairy products. He asked backing for a uniform grade of milk for Wisconsin. He said it was a coming thing and demanded the Co-op's support.

Producers also have suffered from federal government inaction in not setting a supply-demand milk price factor in 11 Midwest order markets. He also scolded the USDA's lack of knowledge as to whether cheddar cheese is being imported as colby cheese. The two are very similar, but cheddar imports are restricted.

Industry Hurt

The decision to import cheese has hurt the industry at a time when prices were beginning to strengthen. The delay in cheese market hearings also has weakened the cheese market, he said.

Affeldt asked for legislation requiring the federal Food and Drug Administration to inspect school milk program for four all dairy products and certify that they are produced under butter and cheese

Ex-Alderman W. R. O'Brien, Menasha, Dies

MENASHA — Walter R. O'Brien, 71, 705 Grove St., former Menasha alderman and candidate for mayor, died at 4:03 a.m. today.

He was born Sept. 3, 1895 in Menasha and served as Fifth Ward alderman for 17 years. He was first elected in 1938 and was reelected every year except 1946 but was returned to the council in 1947.

O'Brien served as council president in 1941 and 1951 and during his tenure, was chairman or member of every council committee. In 1955 and 1956, he was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor.

A former pressman for Marathon division of American Can Co., he was employed there for 40 years.

Survivors include the widow, one daughter, two sons, one stepdaughter, two stepsons, six grandchildren and nine step-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the Laemmrich Funeral Home and at 2 p.m. at St. John Catholic Church with burial in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday where the rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m.

Motorist Taken to Hospital by Police

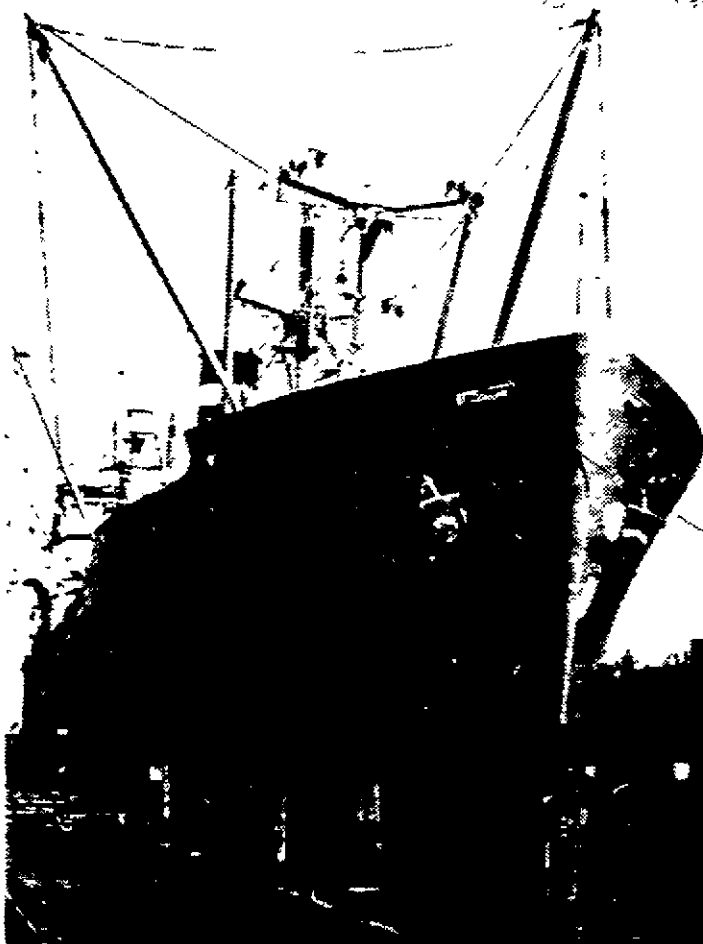

MENASHA — Police drove Lyle Robinson, 60, 603 S. Lake St., Neenah to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital after his car went out of control at Third and Taylor streets Tuesday night and struck a natural gas vent pipe.

Officers said Robinson was driving south on Third and in turning left onto Taylor swung wide, going over the curb and hitting the vent stack. Damage to the front of the car was estimated at $250. The driver was listed in satisfactory condition this morning with a nose injury.

Winnebago Delays School District Vote

OSHKOSH — Supervisors hoppedscotched around and over motions Tuesday before finally delaying action until this afternoon on a recommended proposal for an area vocational and adult school district.

After listening to almost three hours of strong debate on the recommended lines for an area district, and what should be included in the district, county board members decided they needed more time to absorb the testimony after rejecting an effort to table the entire proceedings.

An unofficial citizens committee, called "The Winnebago-Waushara County Area Technical School Fact Finding Committee," is seeking to have the board endorse a resolution asking the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education to designate Winnebago and Waushara Counties as an area vocational school district.

Neenah-Menasha interests are seeking to have the Neenah and Menasha school districts included with the communities to the north for vocational school purposes.

Motions Complicated

The board finally rejected by a 39-5 vote, a motion by Supv. Roland Kampe, Town of Menasha, to table indefinitely any action on the issue — a motion which had been placed on top of a motion by Supv. Eugene Williams, Oshkosh, to delay last Wednesday was a "council until 2 p.m. today action on a motion by Supv. George Christoph, Neenah, to investigate an alternative district plan."

Neenah DDT Spraying Decision Described As Council 'Dilemma'

NEENAH — The split decision which gave Neenah a helicopter spraying program last Wednesday was a "council dilemma," according to city officials.

In a statement issued from Mayor Carl Loehning's office this morning the mayor and Public Works Director Wayne Bryan pointed out the council had to go along with the "experts," the state Department of Agriculture and the state board of health. Both have backed the use of DDT to control Dutch Elm disease.

Bryan said the two state agencies have access to more information and should be better informed than the majority of petitioners.

In Fond du Lac Dairy Co-op Attacks Lucey on Oleo Stand

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

FOND DU LAC —Delegates to the Pure Milk Product Co-ops (PMPC) 35th annual meeting Tuesday were urged to start a political campaign against Gov. Patrick Lucey for his stand "guaranteeing tax-free colored oleo" in the state if he is elected governor.

Donald Uelman, a PMPC director from Eden, and first vice president, called the Lucey move a "flagrant desperate attempt" to woo votes by sacrificing the state's billion dollar dairy industry.

Uelman said he has been a card-carrying member of the Democratic Party as long as Lucey and hated to make the move, but the candidate's advertised stand prompted it.

Adopt Resolution

Uelman also authored a resolution adopted unanimously by the delegates in which they "abhorred" Lucey's political advertising on the issue. Uelman said it was time for the delegates to "stand up politically" and vote against Lucey because of his stand.

Uelman noted that PMPC represented approximately 30,000 votes, counting members and wives.

The delegates demanded if the next legislature okays the sale of colored oleo, manufacturers should be required to meet the same standards that apply to butter.

This would cover inspections, production, storage and manufacturing.

Officers Elected

The resolution was among 30 adopted by the convention which elected Paul Affeldt of Sparta as cooperative president.

Others elected were Uelman, first vice-president; Wesley Newhouse of Kaukauna, second vice-president; Clarence Hamann of Columbus, treasurer, and David Zimmermann, Wausau, secretary.

In another resolution PMPC was asked to promote state and federal legislation to "protect dairy farmers and consumers against fraudulent imitation of dairy products."

Asked for Laws

Laws should "require strict and distinct separation of dairy products and imitations in food stores and levy a fine heavy enough to be a deterrent to the practice of substituting any imitation for any dairy product in public eating places without definite notification to the customer," the resolution read.

Delegates also asked for uniformity in the grade of milk and the price throughout the nation. They asked state conformity with U.S. Public Health Service Grade "A" standards "with the objective that all Wisconsin milk might be eligible to move freely into the most profitable markets."

They reaffirmed support for to Pure Milk Product Co-ops mandatory Grade "A" cottage cheese and ice cream ordinances to protect consumers and increase use of high quality milk.

Attack USDA

Members deplored the lack of action of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) on the supply-demand hearings of last year. They urged elimination of the Class I price reduction, a holdover from the Chicago Milk Marketing Order 30 which expired in May.

The federal government was encouraged to purchase dairy products for menus in school lunch and school milk programs and for the armed forces, government institutions and hospitals.

Delegates asked a fair share return on their investments equal to legal minimum wage standards. "Government policy must be geared to price levels for milk and other farm products" which provide it, they said.

In related dairy subjects, milk products "be required to meet the same quality and inspection standards as those produced in the U.S."

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D., addressed the convention saying the world's food shortages are mounting. He said the world consumption of calories and protein per capita is decreasing steadily.

Nelson also urged farmers to help preserve Wisconsin's natural water supplies. At present rates of pollution, he said, the state will have no water fit for recreation in 20 years.

Judge Delays Migrant Camp Court Trials

gued, "The Town of Grand Chute cannot adopt the Outagamie County zoning ordinance. They can elect to come under the ordinance," Esler said.

Esler also questioned the authority of town and county building inspectors stating there was a conflict between the county zoning ordinance and the town's municipal code.

The right of Outagamie County as party in the case was also refuted by Esler.

"This is a rather simple, basic issue," attorney for Grand Chute Don Herrling said. "The court has to decide if the town has a municipal code."

Herrling added that the town and county are charging the cannery with building without a permit. Whether or not a valid law exists will have to be decided by the court, Herrling said.

"Municipal Code of the Town of Grand Chute" was adopted by the town board in 1962.

Judge Willis, after hearing attorney's remarks, requested copies of town and county building permits. After written briefs are submitted, the court will enter a decision on the points of law raised at the hearing, the judge said.

being trained to contribute to society.

Nelson also said he would support a proposed 3 or 5 percent across-the-board reduction in federal spending if it would prove effective in halting the spiraling inflation. There would be a problem, he added, in that spending is needed if the Viet Nam war is to continue to be pursued.

Two candidates for top political office also gave talks in Appleton — 8th District congressional candidate Dr. Marvin Kagen and State Sen. Martin Schreiber, lieutenant governor candidate.

Dr. Kagen spoke at the chamber breakfast and at a luncheon on the Lawrence University campus. At the breakfast he emphasized the need for existence of a liaison between local business leaders and Congress, saying "We have adequate city and county administrative machinery but our liaison with the nation's capital has been miserably ineffective."

At Lawrence, Dr. Kagen told students of their need to make political decisions more than a spectator sport. His remarks were made in a talk sponsored by the Lawrence College for Dr. Kagen.

Schreiber discussed the water pollution problem during a talk at the Demar Schreiber residence. He complained of the lack of adequate pollution controls on the Great Lakes, particularly on Lake Michigan where "the water is not only unpalatable — we cannot even swim in it."

Calumet Approves 5-Man Plan Group

Board Appropriates $12,000 To Start Comprehensive Study

CHILTON — The first step will head the committee and toward realization of a county appoint the remaining members comprehensive plan was taken subject to board approval. Tuesday when county supervisors approved the establishment of a five-man planning committee and appropriated $12,000 for planning purposes. Board chairman G. J. Hupke federal agencies and act as liaison with the State Department of Resource Development and with the Farmers Home Administration for county planning purposes.

Mayor Backs School Board Budget Cuts

Need Recognized
The need for a comprehensive plan had previously been recognized by the board to qualify the county and its municipalities for federal aids which are available when a plan exists. This planning commission was further authorized to investigate ways to implement the comprehensive plan including the preparation of necessary resolutions for board approval and the investigation of various private planning firms. It is expected that the county's cost of comprehensive planning can be partially defrayed by the federal government's 701 program which pays without so much of a peep of resistance from our loyal department heads," Buckley continued. Buckley said he didn't think the school board president should be "profoundly shocked" as he stated, but should recognize and accept the finance committee's action, based on facts. "I am at a total loss of words to explain his (Buckanan's) violent resistance to losing some of the fat in his own budget," Buckley said.

Youth Injured When Car, Motorcycle Collide

Patrick F. Fox, 19, 1206 W. Parkway St., sustained minor injuries about 4:05 p.m. Tuesday when his motorbike and a car collided at Lawrence and State streets. Driver of the car was John P. Miller, 74, 1603 N. Appleton St., who police said started into the intersection after stopping for striking the Kennon vehicle and the stop sign when the car and the eastbound motorbike collided. Police said the car was driven by Clarence Haelled.

Jury Backs Game Warden In Suit by Kaukauna Men

A 12-member Circuit Court jury Tuesday night found for the game warden in a suit brought against him by two Kaukauna men, David Doolittle and Carl Bowers. The men were plaintiffs in a suit against Albert Vanderbloemen who they said falsely imprisoned them in connection with an alleged game law violation Dec. 26, 1964, in the Town of Buchanan. Doolittle further sought damages from the state for damage resulting when his car was struck from behind by Vanderbloemen who was driving a conservation department car. Bowers sought $5,000 damages for false imprisonment, while Doolittle sought $500 damages to his property and $10,000 for false imprisonment. The jury, after hearing two days of testimony and following an hour and a half of deliberation, ruled that Vanderbloemen was not negligent in causing damage to Doolittle's auto, two jurors dissented, and did not falsely imprison Doolittle or Bowers without reasonable cause to believe they were guilty. The case was heard before Circuit Judge Andrew W. Par-

Conference Yielded Something for All, Fully Pleased None

Deep Asian Commitment May be Most Important of Manila Vows

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent

MANILA (AP) — The Manila summit conference produced something for everybody and probably wholly satisfied nobody.

One of the results is likely to have strong and lasting impact on this area of the globe. The United States deeply committed itself, as a Pacific Ocean power, to the future of the whole Asian area with all its dread problems of poverty, disease, illiteracy and hunger.

That appeared to be one of the things America's allies not only wanted to hear, but wanted to have set down unequivocally and irrevocably on paper.

Perhaps the Viet Nam peace drive has progressed a little but farther toward communication with the Communists in Hanoi.

Troop Withdrawal

The summit conferees offered to withdraw foreign allied troops from South Viet Nam within six months of the time that North Viet Nam meets their conditions. There was an element of challenge in this, since it emphasized the U.S. rejection of a contention that it never intends to get out of South Viet Nam.

This proposal, however, fell far short of a proffered solution, a real peace formula, or a rock-bottom final offer to the Communist side. It was vague with respect to the Viet Cong and what elements of the insurgency should also withdraw to the north.

It made no mention of a Viet

Cong role at a peace conference

The impact of the conference produced a Declaration on Peace and Progress in Asia and the Pacific, and the final joint communiqué will suffer from a widespread attitude of skepticism and even cynicism with which the summit conference was regarded.

Elections Upcoming

Many, not only in Asia — suspect that there is more than coincidence in the fact that four of the allies at the meeting face elections in the near future: the United States, Australia and New Zealand in November, and South Korea next April.

The impression in Manila, however, is that President Johnson is reasonably happy with what was achieved. Possibly equally pleased are South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and South Korean President Chung Hee Park. Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos seemed happy with his role of host to a spectacular international meeting.

Prime Ministers Harold Holt of Australia and Keith Holyoake of New Zealand may have reservations. The two are parties to a Vietnamese war which threatens to burgeon into something bigger, and the conference gave them little to take home to their constituents which might ease the danger in the foreseeable future.

Escalation Question

The question of escalation of the war was left open. What happens when — as is probable — the Communists scornfully reject the summit proposal? The communists made no threat, but the way is clear for open escalation should the Communists remain adamant.

American sources will not concede that the summit results were negative by any means. They contend, for example, that the proposal to withdraw troops after North Viet Nam pulls back its forces, infiltrators and support from the Viet Cong carries matters a step farther than the American offer in the United Nations in September to discuss a phased withdrawal of both sides. Now the offer is total withdrawal with a time limit — six months — if North Viet Nam complies.

In the long run, some say, this may offer Communist North Viet Nam a way out of the war, if it is interested in seeking one. At the moment, it does not appear to be keenly interested.

Famed Bandleader Fred Waring is concerned for those of his troop who required medical treatment at a Somerset, Pa. hospital after their chartered bus crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike east of Somerset. Thirty-six were injured. (AP Wirephoto)

River Blockade Planned

U.S. Will Resist Escalating War in Mekong Delta Area, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will delay as long as possible any decision to step up the pace of the war in the Viet Cong-infested area of the Mekong Delta, U.S. officials indicated today.

Sources described present military plans for the delta in the southernmost part of South Viet Nam as quite modest. They said no immediate major commitment of U.S. ground forces in the area is expected.

Present plans call only for heavier support for the South Vietnamese and American joint army-navy river armadas thoroughly aimed at blockading rivers and coastal areas and flushing out enemy units, officials said.

It has been widely reported that another U.S. combat division is expected to be sent to the area known as the 4th Corps. It was learned that these Viet Cong-infested areas of the Mekong Delta, U.S. officials stated in the area of the delta surrounding Saigon to the north. Three U.S. divisions now are operating there. Although some U.S. sources in Viet Nam have made it clear they think American fighting men are needed in much greater numbers in the 4th Corps, Pentagon officials emphasized that a decision is being made under consideration, one source said. "It's still a 50-50 proposition," he added, that political aspects of U.S. deployment there are being measured against these questions:

— "Do we want to speed the pacification program in the delta?"

It's progressing but more troops would speed it up. — "Do we need control of the waterways, particularly in view of the delta's abundant rice crops?"

In former years the 11,000 square miles of the delta produced 15 million metric tons of rice annually above the area's needs. That surplus longer is available — a fact most sources consider an indication of the effectiveness of Viet Cong control there.

The number of Viet Cong in the delta is estimated at more than 80,000. In addition to this, U.S. military advisers say the Viet Cong are recruiting thousands of fresh troops from the delta's six million residents each month and sending them into other combat zones to fight.

There are now about 5,000 American advisers in the delta and one brigade of the 25th Division — normally stationed thus far.

The rumors, reports and allegations Bishop Pike felt were affecting his personal or official character included heresy charges formulated by the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louth, bishop of South Florida; conclusions stated in the wording of the House of Bishops' censure, and certain charges made by the bishop of Montana, the Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling.

The censure of Bishop Pike came when the bishops voted 103-36 to adopt the report of a committee specially set up to investigate the possible presentment of charges against Bishop Pike.

The rebuke, while critical of some of Bishop Pike's statements and activities, specifically avoided asking for a heresy trial.

The next step is for Presiding Bishop John E. Hines to appoint a commission of not less than three and not more than seven bishops to determine whether Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, censured by his church's House of Bishops for "irresponsible" doctrinal statements, has asked the body for an investigation of his theological views.

Bishop Pike said he had no alternative other than to seek the inquiry.

The action, which needed the support of at least two other bishops, invokes a section of canon law which allows a bishop to call for an investigation if he believes "there are in circulation rumors, reports or allegations affecting his personal or official character."

The Rt. Rev. C. Kilmer Myers, Bishop Pike's successor in the Diocese of California, and the Rt. Rev. John P. Craine, bishop of Indianapolis, signed Bishop Pike's statement.

The next step is for Presiding Bishop John E. Hines to appoint a commission of not less than three and not more than seven bishops to determine whether Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, censured by his church's House of Bishops for "irresponsible" doctrinal statements, has asked the body for an investigation of his theological views.

Bishop Pike said he had no alternative other than to seek the inquiry.

The action, which needed the support of at least two other bishops, invokes a section of canon law which allows a bishop to call for an investigation if he believes "there are in circulation rumors, reports or allegations affecting his personal or official character."

GOP Accused of Doctoring LBJ Speech for Campaign

Republicans Ask Candidates Not To Use Questioned Recording

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey charges Republicans have employed "an enormous and despicable untruth" — an allegedly doctored recording of a speech by President Johnson — in their fall congressional campaigns.

Bailey's accusations came after the Fair Campaign Practices Committee disclosed the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee had asked GOP candidates not to use the tape recording.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., Republican Richard M. Nixon accused Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., of undermining Johnson by his statements on Viet Nam. "It can only weaken our attempts to build a stronger united front," the former vice president told a news conference.

Campaign Low

Bailey entered the flap over the allegedly doctored tape recording by charging in a statement Tuesday night that the incident marks a new "low point in dirty campaign tactics."

He said Republicans "have been caught red-handed" in what he termed "the most flagrant example of deliberate distortion I have seen in all my years of political campaigning."

Republicans, meanwhile, challenged the objectivity of Samuel J. Archibald, executive director of the Nonpartisan Campaign Practices Committee set up to police electioneering methods. Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said Archibald "is still on the pay roll of the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives."

Iowa Speech

Wilson also said the GOP group was informed Archibald had turned the questioned tape over to the Democratic Congressional Committee and

There are now about 5,000 American advisers in the delta and one brigade of the 25th Division — normally stationed thus far.

The rumors, reports and allegations Bishop Pike felt were affecting his personal or official character included heresy charges formulated by the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louth, bishop of South Florida; conclusions stated in the wording of the House of Bishops' censure, and certain charges made by the bishop of Montana, the Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling.

The censure of Bishop Pike came when the bishops voted 103-36 to adopt the report of a committee specially set up to investigate the possible presentment of charges against Bishop Pike.

The rebuke, while critical of some of Bishop Pike's statements and activities, specifically avoided asking for a heresy trial.

Knowles Takes Bow for Water Pollution Laws

Governor Appears With Laird During Program in Wausau

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Warren P. Knowles says Wisconsin Republican legislators are responsible for enacting the nation's most progressive measures against water pollution.

Knowles, appearing Tuesday in Wausau with Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., said the state's recent water resources legislation "is a landmark in Wisconsin conservation history" and that Wisconsin's record in anti-pollution laws is better than any other state's.

The GOP, he said, has "the candidates, the record of accomplishment and the imaginative program which will win the support of the people."

Bankruptcy Approach

Laird said more Republicans will be elected to Congress as "Americans come to realize the bankruptcy of the Great Society's approach to our nation's ills."

State Sen. Martin J. Schreiber, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor speaking in Green Bay, continued his party's attacks on what Democrats call Knowles' links to vested interests.

Schreiber said Republicans have shown favoritism to utilities. Knowles, he charged, loaded the Public Service Commission with pro-utility representatives and "practically ordered them to let rates soar."

...a compromise can be worked out," he told the Optimist Club members. "Everything I sign into law doesn't represent my exact philosophy, but politics is the art of the possible."

Refuses Stands

Knowles' frequent refusal to take unbending stands on pending issues drives his Democratic opponents to the mimeograph machines to whip out news releases lashing at him for a "lack of leadership."

He couldn't agree less with their definition of leadership and can rattle off a string of major proposals he has signed into law.

Many of the programs he requested were substantially altered by Democrats in the Assembly, but Knowles still takes credit for helping guide the measures through the legislative maze.

"I have been in the Legislature and I know the individuals that make it up," said the veteran of a quarter-century in state government, with two decades spent in the Senate in 1954. Reynolds, faced with GOP control of both houses, blatantly tried to force many of his programs on the legislators, to hail a man from his job to Many observers, including ask him what his machine does. Leaving the paper plant, Knowles exclaimed in boyish wonderment that the coating firm was one of only seven in

...on center stage to be an encore of that act.

The soft-push approach of Knowles carries over to the campaign trail, a path he has trod repeatedly since coming into office. He has stressed promotion of the state's economy, and has appeared at more than 200 plant dedications and tours in that time.

The workers at a coating paper company in Appleton were not as enthusiastic as the people the governor met later in the Democratic Assembly worked the day on the downtown areas would receive attention. But he generally left the details and the means of carrying out the programs to the lawmakers.

"The partisan political considerations of the issues really are insignificant. The broad questions of policy on which I make recommendations — highway safety, conservation, education — concern the good of the whole state," he said.

The strategy is nearly the direct opposite of that of former Gov. John W. Reynolds, the Democrat whom Knowles upset notice of him. The governor in 1954 Reynolds, faced with GOP control of both houses, blatantly tried to force many of his programs on the legislators, to hail a man from his job to Many observers, including ask him what his machine does. Leaving the paper plant, Knowles exclaimed in boyish wonderment that the coating firm was one of only seven in ...the country. It had impressed him.

Democrats charge his extensive appearances are publicity gimmicks which support their arguments the governor is not a leader. A governor cannot lead a complex state government while cutting a ribbon or breaking ground 150 miles away from Madison, they argue.

Educational or not, the effect of such a campaign is seen in part in the prediction that the election turnout may be the lowest in a decade. As few as one-half of the state's 2.4 million voters may decide the race.

Asked what the people were interested in, an aide in the governor's Appleton organization answered with hardly a pause: "Nothing, really."

Knowles' program recommendations largely have usurped the Democrats of any lively issues on which to build a campaign. Lucey and Knowles agree on many issues.

General Issues

"The lack of issues has not been any overt, willful or malicious effort on my part to deprive the opposition of campaign ideas," Knowles replied. He said the general issues concerning him and Lucey merely have coincided.

Specific statements about the problems are few, especially if they relate to the promised billion-dollar budget and presump-

Patrick Lucey says: Taxpayers Cry For State Economy Now

PATRICK LUCEY stated that the taxpayer has lost all patience with government's refusal to modernize and streamline its cost-heavy operations. Lucey is one of Wisconsin's leading business managers, and the Democratic choice for governor. "Our present state government is a crazy-quilt pattern of departments, agencies, boards and commissions which lead to obvious confusion and increased costs," Lucey said. "In these days of centralized data processing and computer controls," Lucey said, "it is no longer necessary to pay for inefficiency."

The magic trick offered as the qualifying local prize — 5 of which will be awarded to boys and girls of the Fox Cities area — is called "Scrambled Beads." With the equipment sent to each local prize winner, he can cause three colored beads to change position mysteriously inside a tube after dropping them in. It is a real baffler, yet is easily performed by any boy or girl who learns the secret of how to do it, and the secret will accompany the equipment.

The entries winning the Scrambled Beads will be entered automatically in the competition for the five Strombecker road racing sets. As in the case of local prizes, the national awards will be given for neatness and originality.

After checking the four problems in addition printed above, mark the one which has the incorrect answer. Clip the picture out, paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Print the correct answer beneath it, along with your name, age, address and zip code number. Decorate your entry with crayons, pencil, cutouts or other means, to make it neat and Strombecker. Send your original and a duplicate to Cappy Dick, 1234 Main St., Chippewa Falls, Wis. 54729. Finally address it to Cappy Dick, 1234 Main St., Chippewa Falls, Wis. 54729. BY DAVID BROWN
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—There's no urge for back seat driving when you're in the middle of your first, hair-raising climb toward the stratosphere in a supersonic jet fighter-bomber.

I was riding with a Navy test pilot, Lt. Pete Crane, 30, on a proving flight of a Phantom 2 from the St. Louis Assembly plant of McDonnell Aircraft Corp., where two of the sleek planes are completed daily.

"I've flown more than 600 hours testing these 'birds' and I've never come close to having trouble," the pilot said. Crane seemed calm I wasn't.

The Phantom 2 can climb to 50,000 feet in less than three minutes and cruise at speeds greater than 1,600 miles per hour—more than twice the speed of sound. It is the first U.S. warplane to see action under the insignia of three armed services—Marines, Air Force and Navy. An improved version has been purchased by the United Kingdom for its air force.

Psychological Dent
My flight, the third in a six-flight test series, had been delayed for nearly an hour when a member of the flight crew discovered the oxygen mask in my half of the cockpit wasn't working properly.

The defective equipment was quickly replaced, but the knowledge that something had gone wrong left a considerable dent in my psychological armor.

Suddenly Crane said, "Let's get upstairs" and there was no turning back.

The engines on either side of the fuselage began to vibrate and the plane jumped forward. It was as if I were without the slightest sensation of having left solid ground.

The cockpit is far in front of the wings and engines and you feel like you're riding in a toy wagon propelled by a diesel locomotive.

We circled westward away from the Mississippi River, over the wooded countryside of southeastern Missouri.

Steep Climb
"We're going into a steep climb to 40,000 feet now," the eight-year veteran pilot said. "You can grab the handle above your head if you think you'll need it."

I grasped the handle tightly—and closed my eyes as the plane nosed upward. When I finally opened my eyes, all I could see was the sky. Earth was straight behind.

"Now we're at 40,000 feet and I'm going to level off," Crane said over the intercom. "And then we'll start our speed run for Mach 2."

No sooner had the ground moved back where it should have been than I felt the throaty vibrations of the jets and was pressed heavily against the seat once more.

In less than two minutes Crane announced we'd reached a speed twice that of sound—more than 1,600 miles per hour. Then he put on the air brakes—without telling me.

Seemed to Stop
It felt like the plane was sliding to a halt. I gasped into the intercom. "What's happened?" The instructions I had been given on how to operate the ejection seat were running through my head.

"If something goes wrong with the 'bird,' the flight safety director, Robert Lindsay, had explained, 'all you have to do is reach up and pull the little rings above your head. Then—" bang!—the seat pops out and you're all gone."

Crane explained calmly that we were slowing to save fuel, said the Phantom 2 can fly the 280 miles between St. Louis and Chicago in 10 minutes, but would use nearly 2,000 gallons of fuel at such high speeds. Fuel consumption shrinks at reduced speeds.

Obtaining my reluctant consent, the pilot nosed into a combat dive. Object on the ground that, seconds earlier, had been nothing but blurs began hurriedly to become distinguishable. Green patches became trees and nearly invisible specks were transformed into farm animals.

Suddenly Heavy
Suddenly I felt my eyes pulled toward the sides and my stomach and chest became oppressively heavy. We were pulling out of the dive and, in an instant, had gained four times our normal weight.

Later, we flew "over the top"—from a steep climb to a steep dive—and became weightless, floating toward the canopy over our heads. It felt like we were falling—toward the sky.

After a run to twice the speed of sound, a dive and vertical climb to 40,000 feet and a couple of barrel rolls, my jitters had vanished. I wanted to fly forever.

"Let's try a touch-and-go landing," Crane suggested. We swooped down toward an open runway at Lambert-St. Louis Airport. The rear wheels

Private School Tuition Grant Program Grows

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's tuition grant program for students attending private schools in the state, off to a feeble start a year ago, is providing twice as much aid as it did in 1965-66.

The State Commission for Higher Educational Aids said Tuesday the program had provided 2,057 freshmen and sophomores with funds. In its initial year, tuition grants went to only 939 freshmen.

Officials were publicly disappointed with the results of the first year, and started an extensive campaign to inform students of the program.

The program was set up to give aid to students wanting to attend a private college in Wisconsin. The amount of each grant varies with the tuition of the college and the student's need.

Lester Clark Speaks At Fund Raiser For Norbert Marx

Lester Clark, Menasha police chief Tuesday night said that as an outside police official he was pleased with the gains made in Outagamie County law enforcement in the past few years.

Clark was guest speaker at a fund raising dinner for Norbert J. Marx, Republican candidate for Outagamie County sheriff. The dinner at the Appleton Club drew some 225 persons. Marx, the county's undersheriff, will be opposed by Robert Main Kautsura, policeman, in the Nov. 8 election.

Clark reviewed some of the advances in Outagamie County law enforcement, noting especially the consolidation of the investigation and traffic departments, the purchase of county-owned squad cars, the addition of several men and training of traffic patrolmen at the Wisconsin State Patrol Academy.

The Menasha police chief explained that more than ever before, there is an urgent need for specialized training in law enforcement.

Murel Edinger, Outagamie quartet, entertained.

YOU CAN TEASE YOUR CHILD'S JEALOUSY AWAY! GOOD □ BAD □

Bad The story is told of a father who teased his young son for being jealous of his new baby brother, by cuddling the baby and saying, "I love the baby more than I do you."

What the new father didn't realize was that he acted out what his older son most feared, namely, that the baby had replaced him in his father's affection. Parents today are advised to lean over backward to assure the older children in the family that they're loved and appreciated, especially when their security is threatened by the arrival of a new baby.

Should advertising state a product's limitations? Yes — No — Yes, say some psychologists. Advertisements ordinarily present only one side of the picture. One auto manufacturer indicated also the poorly located door handle of his otherwise "wonderful" car. Other experiments indicated that with high school students and college students, advertisements that mentioned limitations were more effective than those that presented only a one-sided picture of the product. Apparently the public discounts many advertising claims and welcomes the relief of honesty. Is marriage highly ritualistic among us? Yes — No — Yes, say some observers, and

Lawyer Income Similar In Big, Little Towns

MADISON — The small city or village lawyer is more likely to be involved in political and governmental affairs than his colleague in larger cities. He is more likely to prefer the visory positions, while less than one-third of the larger city lawyers cited such activity.

The survey showed that 57 per cent of the smaller town lawyers identify themselves as Republicans, 21 per cent as Democrats and 22 per cent as independents. The larger city lawyers indicated a distribution of 42 per cent Republican, 27 per cent independent, and 27 per cent Democratic.

Budget Balancers

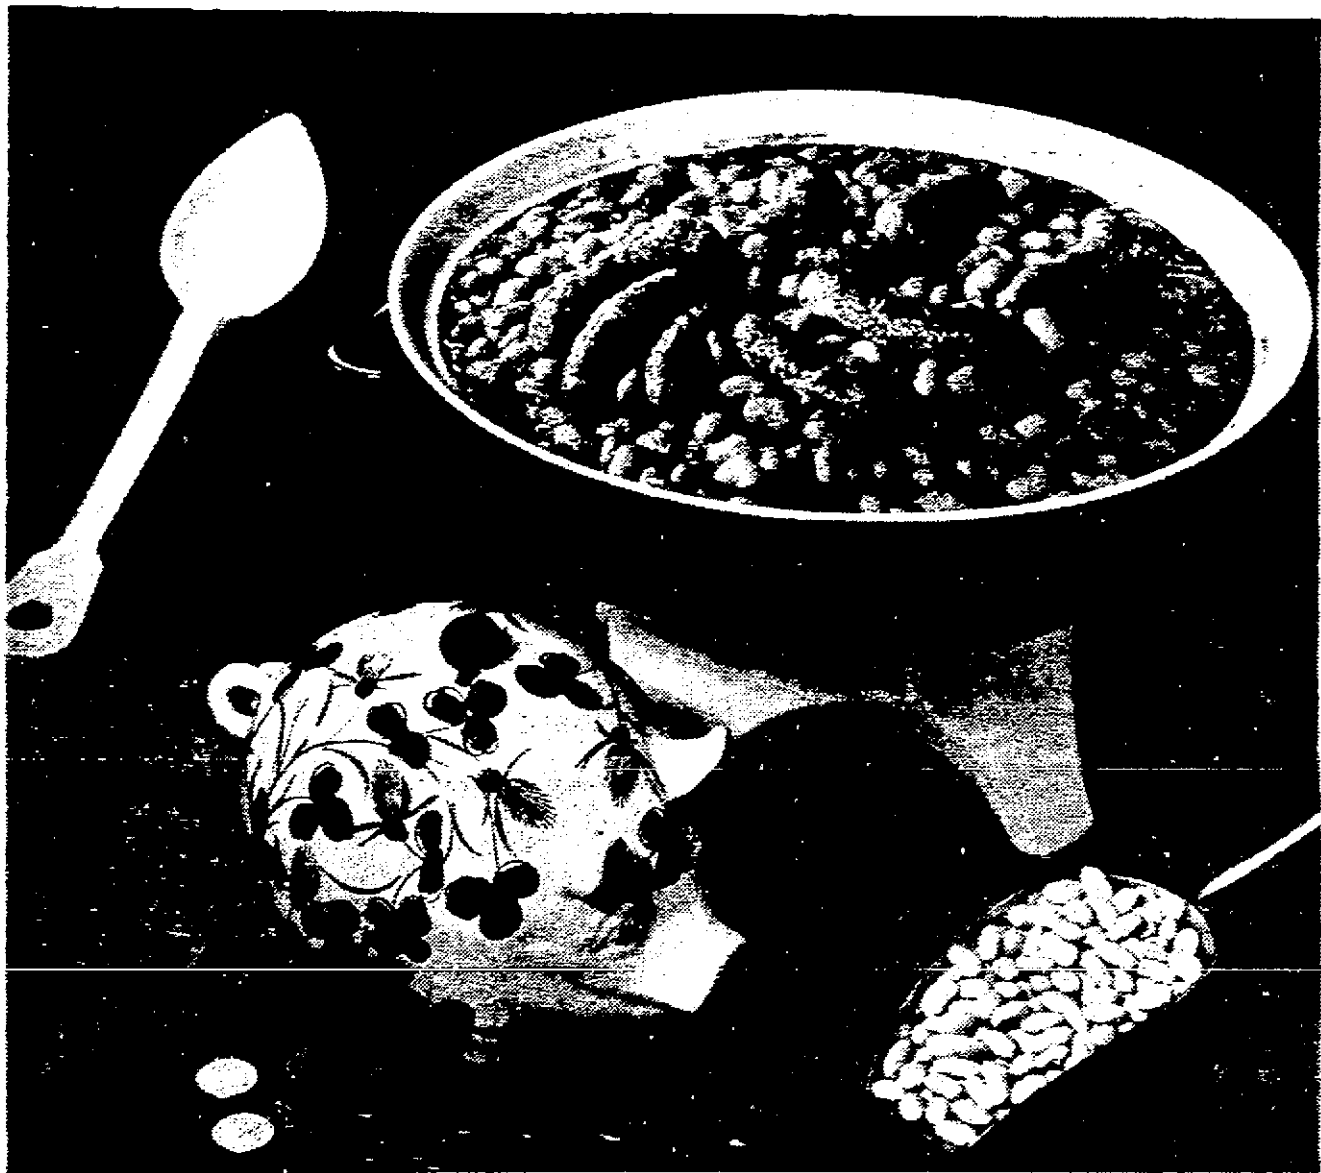

Commodity price index may creep up by the penny or the half-penny, but somehow these translate into the family food budget in the form of a leap. Now's the time for the homemaker to come to the aid of her budget. It's going to take some close figuring . . . a closer look at seasonal foods . . . a comparison of quality, price and quantity of every package and can that goes into the market basket.

When planning main dishes, particularly those using meat (which can take a big chunk from a food budget), take a tip from the thrifty German hausfrau who helped settle this land . . . or the careful French or Spanish housewife . . . the early Yankee homemaker. They all could take prizes in making the best of an economy run in the family . . . they all were known for their ability to produce hearty fare on the well-known "shoestring."

These feminine ancestors of ours never had the convenience foods or the variety the modern housewife does. But they did know how to do wonders with the things they did have. Somehow they always tried and most often managed to "set a good table."

Sauerbraten Meatballs

Piggy Bank Bean Pot

Economy doesn't mean that meals suddenly have to become dull. On the contrary, there are many cuts of meat that might be a challenge to prepare. There's beef and pork liver, hearts, kidneys and stew beef. There are the less tender cuts of beef that can become tender and full-flavored with the use of seasoned tenderizer (something our forebears never had).

One recipe with a German flavor suggested today not only is economical but delightfully tantalizing . . . Sauerbraten Meat Balls. Piggy Bank Bean Pot is a one-dish meal that is indispensable to the budget-minded cook or the gal who likes to take her finest to a church or club potluck supper despite high prices. This one has the touch of Massachusetts Colony to it, but the beans are the fine Idaho Great Northerns as proof that food and recipe production moved westward with the pioneer.

In the stew department . . . always a winner and one of the most common dishes from way back in the thrifty peasant cookery of all Europe . . . there's the harvest stew of simmered lamb neck slices, garlic-flavored sausage, vegetables and pimiento-stuffed olives. The Spanish country people have been combining lamb with olives for centuries . . . so have the French just above the border.

Another idea that's become All-American is the stuffed pepper. The recipe today suggests a new stuffing idea . . . ground lamb enhanced with fine-cut pickle relish. Then, of West opened the queen of diamonds and continued the suit until South ruffed. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps with the king and ace, followed by a club to the ace and another back to the king.

South ruffed a low club in dummy, and East again discarded. Now South had to waste a trump to get back to her own hand.

East ruffed the next club and led a diamond to force out South's last trump. East still had a trump for the setting trick.

South pounced on her partner. "You told me the odds were more than 2 to 1 against a 4-1 break. They must be 10 to 1

Y Auxiliary Meets For Fall Luncheon

Those who lose themselves in the cause of service and give value to the lives of others have both the opportunity and privilege of changing their own lives.

Mr. Warrick, in thanking the women for a job well done, noted that today many Americans are suffering the "neurosis of emptiness." They have arrived, but are nowhere: have more money but less satisfaction, and live in a land of ulcers, cardiacs, alcoholism and suicide. Giving to others often means the difference between a life of fulfillment and one with meaning.

Soap Facilitates Holiday Decorating

It has become a Christmas tradition in many families to decorate their windows with appropriate holiday scenes or messages executed with "paint" made by stirring packaged soap, detergent, or scouring powder with a little warm water to a paste-like consistency.

If your artistic talents are limited, attach a magazine or newspaper picture of a Christmas tree, Santa, or other seasonal design to the surface of a window pane — with the subject facing in. Then trace the scene on the inside, using a sliver of soap or a grease pencil. Remove the paper sample, and go over the traced design with the sudsy paint.

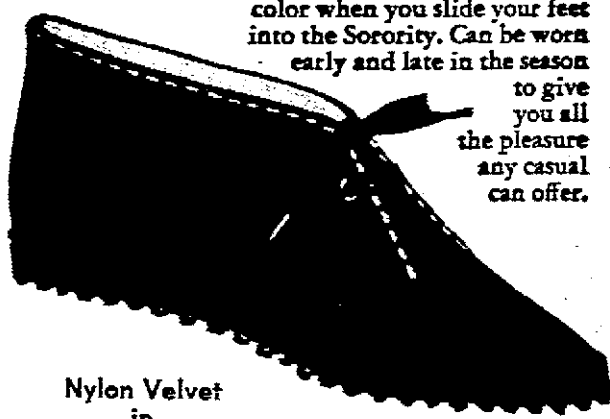

J. Bruce Backenridge will be substitute lecturer for his wife Thursday at the fifth in this year's Women of All Saints Episcopal Church lecture series. His topic will be "Physics for Listening to Sermons". Mr. Backenridge holds the Alice G. Chapman Associate Professorship of Physics at Lawrence University and received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Brown University. The lecture is scheduled at 10 a.m. at All Saints Parish Center.

Budget Balancers

course, there's always the tuna dishes which most families enjoy. One in casserole form is a quick and hearty dish that sticks to the budget as easily as it sticks to the ribs.

So here's to some good eating! Good appetite!

SPANISH LAMB STEW

- 1/2 cup wine vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 pounds lamb neck slices
- 1/2 pound chorizo (garlic flavored sausage), sliced
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 1 or 2 cloves garlic
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf, crumbled
- 2 cups hot water
- 12 white onions
- 6 carrots, cut in strips
- 1 jar pimiento-stuffed olives, drained
- 1/4 cup dry sherry (optional)

Combine vinegar, water and lamb; marinate one hour or longer. Drain. Fry sausage in Dutch oven or heavy pot five minutes; drain on paper towels. Dredge lamb in flour. In Dutch oven brown lamb in oil with garlic. Drain lamb; discard fat and garlic. Combine lamb with sliced onion, seasonings and water. Simmer covered, one hour. Mix in sausage and remaining ingredients. Cook 30 minutes, or until lamb and vegetables are tender. Remove meat and vegetables to serving dish; before adding gravy, boil one minute to thicken. Serve with plain or saffron rice or noodles, as desired. Recipe serves six.

BRAISED LAMB SHANKS WITH OLIVE SAUCE

- 4 lamb shanks, cracked (about 3 1/2 to 4 pounds)
- Flour, salt and pepper
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 scallions, or green onions, chopped
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/4 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives

Dredge lamb in mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Heat oil; add onion and saute five minutes. Add lamb and cook until well browned on all sides. Add boiling water and bay leaf. Cover and simmer two hours, or until lamb is tender. Remove lamb shanks and place in serving dish. Reserve one cup lamb stock.

Add scallions, vinegar and tomato paste to reserved lamb stock; heat to boiling point. Blend one teaspoon flour and one tablespoon water. Gradually add to stock mixture with mustard, parsley and olives. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Simmer five minutes. Pour sauce over lamb.

SAUERBRATEN MEAT BALLS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 beef bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup gingersnap crumbs
- 1 package (8 ounces) noodles
- 1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Combine meat, bread crumbs, onion, two tablespoons lemon juice, two tablespoons water, salt and pepper. Shape into one-inch balls. Brown meat balls in small amount of hot fat. Remove meat balls.

Add 2 1/2 cups water to dripings and bring to a boil; stir in bouillon cubes, sugar, raisins, 1/4 cup lemon juice and gingersnap crumbs.

Add meat balls. Cook uncovered over low heat 10 minutes. Turn meat balls, spooning sauce over; cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain and top noodles with poppy seeds. Serve meat balls and sauce over noodles. Recipe makes five to six servings.

PIGGY BANK BEAN POT

- 6 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 fat clove garlic, if desired
- 1/2 pound (about 9) link sausage
- 1/4 cup light molasses
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard

1 teaspoon horseradish
1/2 teaspoon coarse-grind black pepper

Wash beans, add water. Soak overnight in large heavy saucepot or Dutch oven. Or, in a hurry, bring beans and water to boiling point. Boil two minutes. Remove from heat. Cover. Allow to stand one hour. This is equal to overnight soaking.

To cook, either way, bring beans and soaking water to boiling point. Add salt, butter to keep down foaming, garlic stuck to pot or Dutch oven. Or, in a hurry, bring beans and water to boiling point. Blend one teaspoon flour and one tablespoon water. Gradually add to stock mixture with mustard, parsley and olives. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Simmer five minutes. Pour sauce over lamb.

Mix remaining ingredients together, blending well. Place prepared beans in two-quart casserole or bean pot; include all the liquid. Stir in molasses mixture (second portion of recipe). Top with browned sausages. Cover. Bake two hours in 350-degree oven. Recipe makes eight hearty servings.

The Swinging Set

The Pop Song Intellectuals

BY SYLVIE REICE

"Pop music has become the most alive medium," says Arthur Garfunkel. "It's catching up with film as a leading medium in which to make some comment about the world for the large audience — just as film caught up with literature."

Pretty fancy talk for what used to be croon-june-moon- spoon pop music? Indeed — but it's the kind of thinking which is making 23-year-old Simon and Garfunkel the favorites of the campus circuit. They're not the only ones who "think", of course. There's Bob Dylan, the young papa of them all, Chad Mitchell (doing it alone now) and another great duo, Addiss and Crofut. And, judging from their last album, even the Beatles are going folk-singers.

What they all share is a predilection for lyrics with significance — or in plain English, they want to say something more than "I-love-you-I-can't-live-without-you." In comment about the world for the large audience — just as film caught up with literature."

deal with subjects like alienation, lack of communication in our society, loneliness and all the anxieties that go with our computerized, nuclearized generation. BUT they do it entertainingly. "We're not preaching," say Paul and Art. "We're just commenting on what we see around us. Our prime purpose is still to entertain, but we are creating doubts and raising questions."

New Yorkers

The twosome became famous with their first Columbia recording "The Sounds of Silence" which sold a million copies and hit number one place. Other hits were "Homeward Bound", "I Am a Rock." All in all, their first four singles and two LP's have sold the incredible total of over five million copies. "Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme" is a third LP on its way. The boys come from Queens, New York, and have been singing together since they were thirteen! Paul writes the music and lyrics; Art does the vocal arrangements in between his graduate studies at Columbia University. "I don't like us to be labeled — even folk rock," says Paul. "They're not labels for what we do."

Too Much

The intellectual pop singer has so much to say, in fact, that often he cannot say it all in songs. That's why Bob Dylan and John Lennon wrote books. Now Simon is planning a book. And so is Steve Addiss of Addiss and Crofut. Steve already has his publisher chosen and though the title is not settled on, he's thinking of calling it "Air-Conditioned Buddha."

Steve Addiss and Bill Crofut are two of the sweetest, gentlest, smartest guys around. They have a casual charm that captured not only me when I interviewed them, but thousands of campus followers AND world famous figures like Adlai Stevenson, John Kennedy and LBJ. Here's what President Johnson said about them at a special Addiss-Crofut Awards Ceremony. "This morning I have invited to the White House two talented, dedicated, and very modest young men who epitomize the Volunteer Generation. They laid aside their careers and went to Viet Nam — as they had done for us before in cotheque in London is Sybilla's. Africa and the Far East. . . and Beatie George Harrison is one of its backers."

25th Anniversary Marked by Pair

KAUKAUNA — Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kuhn, 120 Grant St., observed their 25th wedding anniversary with a family dinner. The couple was married Oct. 25, 1941, at Peace Lutheran Church, Split Rock.

They have four children: Mrs. Bruce Duff, Anita, and Jean Theodore and Nicholas, at home.

the State-Department sponsored tour of Asia, Africa and later Viet Nam which the two folk-singers went on, and where they learned to sing in 22 different languages. "Music opens the door to a country," they say. They love performing, will go anywhere. Two years ago a teenage girl arranged for them to appear at an American Field Service benefit in Manitowish, Wis. They like young people's "Young people are misunderstood," they say.

Addiss and Crofut have achieved a very special status among folk-singers. They have dignity, they have White House sanction, they appear at important political rallies. But nonetheless they are outspoken. They sing about war and its destruction. Their songs abound with gentle ironies, bittersweet wisdom and sometimes quick sharp thrusts delivered with humor. They truly represent the "involved generation" — teens today who care about the world they live in.

Incidentally, notice that these pop singers don't have names like Animals, Beasts, Birds and Bees — but just use their own names? Think there's any significance in that?

TEEN-TALIZERS:

The big question: What does one wear with the new pantsuits? A shoulder bag, low heel shoes, "racing" gloves and a big wrist watch!

The latest, most with-it dishe in cotheque in London is Sybilla's. Africa and the Far East. . . and Beatie George Harrison is one of its backers."

In Virginia, teens are making necklaces out of apple, orange, even canteloupe seeds. They dry them, string them, and paint them any color they want. (Copyright, 1966)

Green peppers stuffed with moist, tender spring lamb relish enhances the flavor, while canned tomato sauce with can be a pleasant change to an old favorite. Sweet pickle cheese provides an excellent topping.

Your Problems

Business Owners Defend Their Right to 'Closed Shop' Policies

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you put down salespeople who yak on the phone and keep customers waiting. You said they were "Rude rude rude." And now, will you say something to the rude rude rude customers who come to the store before and after hours and try to get in?

My husband and I own a small shop. Our shop opens for business at 9 a.m. We close at 5:30 p.m. We get down to work be dumber than you are smart — or you would not have married a hypocritical, sanctimonious, self-centered, detached, insensitive, erratic, twisted, stupid, unresponsive, uncommunicative, warped, sul- len, capricious, unpredictable, deceitful, punitive, self-righteous, obstinate woman who has never been wrong about anything in her whole life.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: sometimes your advice is so crazy that I think you are putting us on. The answer you gave to the woman whose husband divides the newspaper with her and then falls asleep under his half before she gets a chance to read it burned me up. Why did you tell her to buy two papers? Why didn't you tell her that the creep could sleep under yesterday's paper? If he's asleep what difference does it make?

And by the way your new picture is terrible. You look like you're in jail, with all those stripes. I don't know why I'm wasting a stamp because you'll never print my letter, but I had to have my say. — Honest at about 8:30 a.m. and we need every minute to check stock, mail and open packages, make telephone calls and do countless other chores.

Yet, almost every morning some inconsiderate slob bangs on the door 20 minutes before we are supposed to open. If we don't open up they go to the back door and holler, "I know you're in there."

We have this same problem at closing. Although we have our hours posted clearly in the front window many people beat on the door and want us to open up for them.

Please tell the American public that this is rude rude rude. Thank you. — Also Human Beings

Dear Human: It may be rude rude rude, but if I owned a store I wouldn't mind opening up for a customer who was a little early or a little late. It might be the best sale of the day.

Of course, I've never owned a store and I could be wrong. How about some word from more of you on the other side of the cash register?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a reply to my wife who is in the same category with "Getting Notions." She announced unashamedly that she could not remain true to me because I am "low-key, undermonstrative, unaffectionate and indifferent."

Will you please tell me, Ann, how a man can work up any enthusiasm for a hypocritical, sanctimonious, self-centered, detached, insensitive, erratic, twisted, stupid, unresponsive, uncommunicative, warped, sul- len, capricious, unpredictable, deceitful, punitive, self-righteous, obstinate woman who has never been wrong about anything in her whole life?

And don't tell me I need a doctor. What I need is a woman. — Smart But Dumb do pennies make a difference in your food bill?

You bet they do.

And we should know.

We built our business by saving pennies for generations of folks like you.

For instance, take our policy on multiple-priced items.

If an item is priced 3 for 25¢, the price for one is obviously 9¢.

But what happens if you want two?

Do you pay 2 times 9¢ or 18¢?

Not at A&P.

We sell it at 2 for 17¢.

That's the fair way—the A&P way.

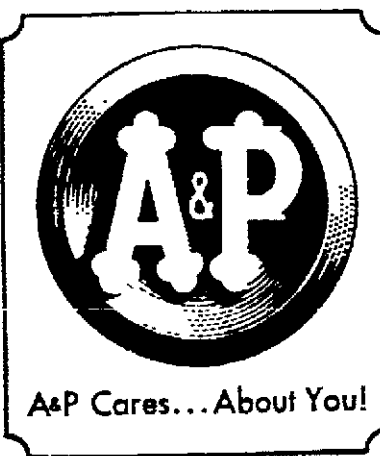

Yes, in the food business...

in food budgeting, pennies make a difference.

We watch them for you and for us.

Administration Doesn't Realize Guideline Dead

Labor Won't Even Hear 3.2 Per Cent

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House economists appear to be shadow boxing with the illusion that President Johnson's thoroughly shattered 3.2 per cent wage guideline is still alive.

And organized labor, which trampled the guideline with several recent major wage hikes of 5 per cent or more, is angry that the old figure is still even a conversation piece in high government circles.

The old guideline, designed as a weapon against inflation, was based on estimates that the amount of production per man hour in U.S. industry rises an average of 3.2 per cent a year.

The Labor Department's percentages stem from figures collected by government statisticians. The productivity increases presumably stem from better techniques and machines. If, for example, these factors netted a 3.2 per cent increase, a button factory worker who was turning out 100 buttons an hour last year would now be averaging 103.2 per hour.

Normal Hikes

Under the guideline theory formulated by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, wages could go up 3.2 per cent yearly without price hikes.

Labor never liked the idea, but became infuriated last year when the government's own figures showed productivity increasing at 3.6 per cent a year while the council clung to the 3.2 per cent figure.

"We slapped them hard," recalls a high AFL-CIO official of the big labor federation's criticism at the time. Labor then set out to crack the guideline at every opportunity, and succeeded in big contracts affecting airline machinists, telephone equipment installers and electrical workers.

Now comes Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, saying productivity is up even higher — to 3.8 per cent.

Where did he get the higher figure?

Ackley Idea

From Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and chief proponent of the now defeated effort to hold a 3.2 per cent lid on wage hikes.

A spokesman for the council said Ackley did use the 3.8 per cent figure in recent congressional testimony, based on revised, higher estimates of the gross national product.

But, the spokesman said, the 3.8 per cent figure didn't take into account later revised man-hour estimates from the Labor Department that "returned all the figures back where they were."

Back where? To 3.6 per cent, or to 3.2 per cent?

"There was a shadow figure of 3.6 per cent," the council spokesman said, "but it was not a figure we acknowledged."

Still Official Guide

The council, he added, still holds to the position that the "estimated trend" in man-hour productivity is still an increase of 3.2 per cent a year. And thus is still the official White House guideline attempting to limit wage increases.

AFL-CIO officials were incredulous at the argument. "The lowest estimate you can possibly get from the Labor Department's revised figures is 3.7 per cent," said one spokesman.

"They can stand on their heads or anything else and it's still 3.8 per cent," said Nathaniel Goldfinger, chief economist for the big labor federation.

The AFL-CIO, which thought it had buried the 3.2 per cent figure months ago, vehemently insists the old guideline is dead.

"Maybe it's still alive and hiding out in Brazil," cracked one AFL-CIO source. "But if it is, we have no extradition with that country."

Farmer Removes Coat To Beat Overwhelming (Literal) Heat of Labor

MONROE, Wis. (AP) — Will Hartwig is a hard-working farmer, and occasionally removes his coat when the heat of his labor threatens to overcome him.

While operating his corn picker on his Green County farm, he glanced behind him to check the progress of his work, and discovered a row of fire crawling toward him.

His tractor exhaust evidently had ignited dry fodder and stubble. He removed his jacket with which to beat out the flames.

Nudists Allowed to Romp; Fully Clothed Onlookers Arrested

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — San Mateo County sheriff's deputies, who refuse to arrest nudists at San Gregorio Beach, arrested 19 fully clothed persons who came to watch.

Deputies arrested the group, ranging in ages from 18 to 58, on trespassing charges.

Property owners in the area have complained of trampled vegetation and cut fences caused by the peeping crowds.

State Flag Question

Ballots Show Interest in Updating Constitutions

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP) — In Florida on Election Day one of the issues for the voters to act upon is whether the state flag should be 3-by-5 feet instead of 3-by-4 feet.

Ordinarily, it might be assumed this is something which could be settled without a statewide ballot of the people. But the flag size is prescribed by the state constitution and only the people can amend it.

The fact that it is on the Nov. 8 ballot illuminates problems behind an upsurge of interest, pretty much nationwide, in trying to improve state constitutions.

Volunteer Work

Hand-in-hand with this, and usually the motivating force, is a feeling that state legislatures are too restricted by state constitutions that have become antiquated.

There are a number of volunteer groups trying to do something about this.

One is the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures, headed by former Kansas Gov. John Anderson Jr. Among those on its board are former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford, Benson Ford of Ford Motor Co., Clarence B. Randall, former head of Inland Steel Co., and Charles B. Shuman, American Farm Bureau Federation president.

The broad general argument runs that if state governments are to be made more effective, then state legislatures must be made more effective.

Eliminate 12,000 Words
Another member of this group's board is Jesse Unruh, California political leader, whose own state is going to vote this fall on knocking some 12,000 words out of its constitution. The present length: about 70,000 words.

If this is approved, there could be annual legislative sessions unlimited in length and subject matter. Presently, sessions in even-numbered years are restricted to dealing with budget and special items only.

Getting back to Florida, why the proposal to change the flag's size?
It seems 3-by-5 is the size flag manufacturers are accustomed to making. Most states use that size. Hung alongside them, Florida's flag looks a little bob-tailed.

Way Cleared For Golf Course Near State Park

Calumet Board Amends Land Use Portion of Law

CHILTON — Construction of golf courses in land zoned agricultural will be permitted, a Calumet County zoning ordinance amendment adopted Tuesday by the county board stipulates.

The action came on the recommendation of the County Park Commission which acts as the county zoning board. Golf courses, in the past, had been designated as a commercial land use.

Giving rise to the amendment was a petition by Francis Schneider, route 1, Menasha, which asked for the change so that he could develop a golf course on land he owns near High Cliff State Park.

Aired at Hearing

The issue was aired at a park commission public hearing here Oct. 18. At that time a representative of the State Conservation Commission announced that the commission was relenting from its former stand which opposed commercial development near the park. The Schneider project, he said, would be an asset to the area's recreational potential.

The county board also approved the request of Roy and Emma Glazer, Town of Harrison, to rezone a portion of land 200 feet wide and approximately 600 feet deep from agricultural to commercial. The zoning board said this was compatible with the surrounding property which also is zoned commercial. A small portion across the street to the south which extends to the Soo Line railroad tracks also will be zoned commercial.

A petition entered by Supv. Carl Peik, Town of Charlestown, to lower the cost of construction requiring a building permit from $1,000 to $500 was tabled pending further study.

Action Held Up

The zoning commission did not feel it could make a decision on this request because a change would affect all areas governed by the county zoning code. Originally a permit was required for construction which costs more than $500. It was changed to $1,000 in light of rising building costs.

Supervisors also concurred with the zoning board's recommendation to take no action on a request to rezone the lot housing the Red Star School in the Town of Harrison from agricultural to light industrial. The board felt it could not justify spot zoning a small plot. To rezone a larger area light industrial would be incompatible with the surrounding area which is largely residential.

Doctor Advises Reader With Lung Problem

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D. Let me explain why. Bronchitis, the result of health by not becoming a sun worshiper. On the contrary, moving to a different climate may mean that excessive summer heat bothers you, or dust or plants cause allergies. So you have to accept the possibility of two sides to the question.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor advised me to move to a warm climate like Arizona because I have fibrosis and bronchiectasis in my lungs. Do you agree that this will help? Are sun baths good or bad? — Y.J.

This question takes some careful answering on my part. Certainly they cannot reverse and some careful reading on your part. Your envelope became separated from your letter, so I don't know where you live, and that might have a bearing.

Prize Awaits Proof of Human Soul

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 18 days will be set aside next year in which to prove scientifically the existence of the human soul.

To the organization which can do this — and at least eight will try — the prize is more than $200,000.

The money was left by James Kidd, an Arizona miner who died in 1951. Kidd's will said his estate would go to any person or group furnishing "some scientific proof of a soul of the human body which leaves at death."

Attorneys believe the money also could be awarded anyone who is merely researching the existence of the soul.

Superior Court Judge Robert L. Myers said Monday a hearing expected to last 18 days would begin next March 6.

Kidd, a bachelor, said in his will he had no heirs.

Seeking to qualify for the money are the California Parapsychology Foundation, Inc., the Arizona Board of Regents, Arizona Foundation for Neurology and Psychiatry, Parapsychology Foundation, Inc., the University of Life Church, Inc., Neurological Sciences Foundation, Physical Research Foundation, Inc., and the Aquarian Foundation.

Dr. Molner

That is why I am always reluctant to recommend a change in climate. Too often it doesn't help. If you can visit the new locality — Arizona or wherever — and find that it helps, fine. Then you have some sound basis on which to judge whether the move is worth it. It is always wise, if you can manage it, to visit at more than one time of year. Summer may be good but winter unpleasant, or vice versa.

But to pack up, bag and baggage, and move, cutting old ties, can be a disappointment.

Let's not forget that some things can be done for bronchiectasis in any climate. Antibiotics help suppress infection. Postural drainage (that is, lying with head lower than your chest) aids in expelling the puddled secretions. Sometimes surgery is advisable, removing the section of lung which is affected.

There is little to do for fibrosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: If one is abnormally sensitive to nicotine, is desensitization, as in the case of allergy-causing substances possible? — J. S.

For practical purposes the answer is no. First, the sensitivity to nicotine usually is not a hypersensitivity in the sense of allergy which causes a violent reaction from contact with a very small amount of the allergen. Nicotine is a drug this serious lung disease, having certain toxic effects. Some folks are more susceptible than others.

Second, while desensitization is practical for hay fever, bee stings and other allergies, desensitization does not eliminate the allergy. It merely increases the patient's tolerance.

to the offending substances to a point at which he can get along with them, if he is careful not to be too strongly exposed.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking a mild salt douche after sexual relations. My husband's mother says I can't have babies if I continue this. I am 27. Is this true? — Mrs. G. B.

It might interfere. That is to say, it might wash away sperm before it has found the ovum and started pregnancy. But this most certainly is not a foolproof method of contraception. But why the douche at all? Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and mailing the booklet.

Rozelle Denies Any Deals Made About Franchise in NFL

Visit New Orleans, Now Check Seattle and Cincinnati Layouts

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — leagues immunity from anti-trust laws in their merger. The National Football League linking of the two leagues will say no deals have been made to be completed by 1970.

Rozelle and three club owners flew on to Seattle, Wash., today for a look at that city's credentials for pro football. Then on Thursday they will travel to Cincinnati.

The NFL will pick one of the three cities for its next franchise, expected to be granted within the next 10 days.

Gain Passage

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., assistant Senate majority leader, and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., assistant House majority leader, were instrumental in gaining passage of legislation to give the National and American

"There has been no firm commitment," said Rozelle. "No more so than to Sen. Everett Dirksen."

The Illinois lawmaker, Republican leader of the Senate, attacked on the antitrust exemption to a tax bill at Long's request when Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., blocked it in his House Judiciary Committee.

Rozelle went on to explain that he didn't mean a commitment had been made to Dirksen either. Illinois already has one pro team — the NFL Chicago Bears.

Note of Thanks

"When I said as much as to Sen. Dirksen, I was attempting to convey that there are some people in the House that I owe — that we all owe — a note of thanks to, and virtually the entire Senate."

Boggs, Rozelle and the three owners — Dan Reeves of the NFL Los Angeles Rams, Lamar Hunt of the AFL Kansas City Chiefs, and Ralph Wilson of the AFL Buffalo Bills — held a news conference after meeting with Tulane University officials.

They inspected Tulane's 82,500-seat stadium, site of the annual Sugar Bowl game, and those reported offers to play pro football were "not anything definite."

Havlicek Says NFL Offers Were Offhand

BOSTON (AP) — John Havlicek, 500-seat stadium, site of the annual Sugar Bowl game, and those reported offers to play pro football were "not anything definite."

Havlicek, a key player for the National Basketball Association team until another stadium could be built.

A constitutional amendment to establish a stadium authority with power to build a domed sports stadium in greater New Orleans. Until the stadium could become self-supporting, it would be financed by a hotel occupancy tax in New Orleans and adjoining Jefferson Parish (county).

Be Approved

Rozelle said he thought it was important that the domed stadium amendment be approved but he repeatedly declined to say if announcement of the franchise would be made before or after the election.

"We intend to expedite this but we're going to have to talk the four of us, when he completes this three-day blitz in Seattle," said Rozelle. "We're going to have to confer with the other three members of the joint committee and our future course of action will be determined."

Rozelle said Reeves, Hunt and Wilson, along with Carroll Rosenbloom of the Baltimore Colts (NFL), Tex Schramm of the Dallas Cowboys (NFL) and Bill Sullivan of the Boston Patriots (AFL), make up a committee serving "as a planning board" for the completion of the merger.

OSU's Anders Should Get Chance to Break Reception Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State end Billy Anders, who caught nine passes for 111 yards against Wisconsin Saturday, is expected to see action this weekend against Minnesota having recovered from a sprained ankle.

Anders, if he plays Saturday at Minnesota, will be hoping to break a Buckeye season record for pass receptions. He has 37 this season, two short of the school mark.

Bills-Jets Tilt On National TV This Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Bills-New York Jets game in the American Football League will be televised nationally by NBC Sunday, the network announced Tuesday.

NBC was scheduled to televise four regional games but switched to the national hook-up because of the importance of the game between the Eastern Division leading Jets and the defending champion Bills.

New York, where the game is being played, will be one of the few cities that will not receive the telecast, while teams on the road will have their games broadcast back to their home city.

The Bills-Jets game will start at 1 p.m., EST.

Jordan Looks to Next Game

Lions May be Freewheeling

GREEN BAY (AP) — Henry Jordan says his palms are already beginning to sweat. Ahead this weekend is the Green Bay Packers' annual pilgrimage to Detroit.

"We're going into the Lions' den," said the defensive tackle.

The veteran of many a memorable afternoon in the Motor City could just as well have said the snake pit.

Green Bay lost in Detroit in 1960 and 1962. The loss in 1962 marred what otherwise was a perfect Packers' season. In 1963, the Packers battled to a 13-13 tie. They won 14-10 in 1964 and 31-21 last season.

Last year it took three Bart Starr bombs to bring the Packers back from a 21-3 halftime disadvantage. Starr got a final touchdown himself with a four-yard run in what was one of his most brilliant games.

Have 2-5 Record

The Lions have a 2-5 record so far this year, a factor that could make them a freewheeling crew Sunday.

"When you're relaxed, you always play better," said Jordan.

The Packers must win to protect their one-game lead in the National Football League's Western Conference race. "This is a must game for us," Jordan said. "They'd like to knock us out of it."

Detroit has been a spoiler in this week as saying. "Of course, the NFL before. Last season, I think we've got a chance they shocked the Baltimore against Green Bay, a good Colts 24-24 on Thanksgiving Day chance. Of course, Green Bay to help set the stage for the is one of the very, very best. Western Conference playoff between the Colts and Packers. for Green Bay and I think

The Lions have the material our offense will get a reasonable number of points and the defense will hold the Packers' named Roger Brown and Alex Karras.

Good Veterans

"They've got a nucleus of good veterans to pull them all together," said Jordan, who also day and we'll be going against had praise for the Lions' new-unknown quantity when we comers. "They've got a real face him. That's in his favor."

Sweetan, a Wake Forest graduate, completed 19 of 43 passes for two touchdowns and 202 yards in a 27-24 loss to the San Francisco 49ers.

The rookie was quoted earlier

Mike Andrews, former Kaukauna High School standout, will be in the starting lineup Saturday for the Lawrence University Vikings when they travel to Grinnell College. Andrews is a starting halfback. Lawrence currently has a 4-1 Midwest Conference record and is tied for second place. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Packers Lead Defensively; Starr Tops Passing Statistics

Bass, Mitchell Top Rushers And Receivers

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Bass of Los Angeles leads the runners and Bobby Mitchell of Washington tops the pass receivers in the latest National Football League statistics, but the combined leader is versatile Charley Taylor of Washington.

Taylor, rookie of the year in 1964 when he scored a tremendous double by ranking among the top 10 in both rushing and receiving, had a mediocre season in 1965 when he was hobbled by injuries.

The Redskins' fine running back has regained the touch, rolling up a total of 632 yards on a combination of 253 rushing and 399 receiving. After seven weeks Taylor tops the list of the 20 NFL players who have exceeded 100 yards in both rushing and receiving.

Total of 649

Bass, the top ground gainer with 539 yards, also has caught passes for 110 and a total of 649.

Timmy Brown of Philadelphia comes next with 399 running, 245 catching for a total of 644.

Although Coach Otto Graham benched Mitchell at the start of the Redskins' game with St. Louis last week, Bobby wound up with two touchdown receptions and also No. 1 in the all-important pass defense category. Although Green Bay is 10th in rushing defense, the Packers have allowed only four TDs on the ground. The only club with a better record is Dallas with three.

Johnson Gets Starting Nod

ATLANTA (AP) — Randy Johnson, who has shared quarterback duties with Dennis Claridge, formerly of Green Bay, was named Tuesday to start for the Falcons in a National Football League game with Cleveland Sunday.

Johnson, one of Atlanta's first-round draft selections, directed the Falcons to their only 1966 triumph—a pre-season defeat of the San Francisco 49ers.

MID-EASTERN CONFERENCE	W	L

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah's high-flying Rockets appear right on target in shooting for all the honors a football team could hope to garner in a single season.

Coach Ben Meixl's flashy squad ranked first in the state a week ago among Wisconsin's large schools, and the Rocket's 61-0 over Shawano did nothing to hurt their chances of retaining that lofty post.

Only Two Rivers stands in the way of Neenah's fourth unbeaten season in the last 10 years, and the victory over Shawano insured the Rockets of at least a share of their fifth consecutive Mid-Eastern Conference title. A triumph over seventh place—Two Rivers Saturday at Neenah would give the Rockets the league crown outright.

The lone team which still has a chance to catch the Rockets is Kaukauna, a game behind at 5-1. The Ghosts should have their hands full with Kimberly on the Papermakers' home grounds Saturday. Other season windups send Clintonville to Menasha Saturday afternoon, and New London journeys to Shawano Friday night.

The play-calling and passing of quarterback Gary Losse sparked Neenah's seventh win of the campaign over Shawano. The poised senior threw three more touchdown passes, while Saturday morning.

his overpowering backfield plashed the Indians' line for six more touchdowns.

The onslaught brought four members of the Rockets' offense to the top in conference Ritcherson of Waco, Tex., son of Halfback Chuck Wismer continued his lead with 66 Ritcherson. The younger Ritcherson was an outstanding back title end Dan Jankowski has in high school and came along caught four touchdown passes, and booted 23 PATs, plus two field goals to run second to Wismer with 53 points.

Wismer's running mate at halfback, Tom Bachhuber, is tied with fullback Dan Mayer for the third spot with 48 points on eight TD's.

Kaukauna stars, Lee Nimmer and Ken Kavanaugh, hold down the next two spots at 42 and 30 points, respectively.

In other action last week, Clintonville surprised Kimberly, 18-14, on a last second touchdown. Kaukauna romped over Menasha, 31-0, to send the Bluejays down to their 12th consecutive loss (over two seasons), and New London rolled over Two Rivers, 23-13, in its bid to finish in the ME's first Wisconsin varsity game at Camp Randall Stadium.

Bowman Says He Got Big Lift From His Return to Active Duty

BY LEE REMMEL

Weeks. I got into the Rams game a month ago, but only for a couple of series.

"Shoulder Felt Good"

He dislocated his right shoulder, originally injured in the Pack's second last exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Steelers Aug. 27, in that one game he gave rise to fears it could become a chronic problem.

The former University of Wisconsin stalwart was delighted to report, however, that he had emerged from Sunday's full scale test none the worse for wear.

"The shoulder felt good," he said. "It felt a lot stronger than it did before. That was the first football injury I've ever had, and hope I don't have any more."

He'd had other mishaps. "Yeah, I broke my arm in college. I was clowning around putting the shot and whapped my arm against the side of a building," Ken confessed with a sheepish chuckle. "It was beautiful."

How does he assess his chances of regaining his old job? The craggy featured Scandinavian, who took over at center in the middle of the 1964 season during a major shuffle of the offensive line following Jerry Kramer's illness and an injury to Fuzzy Thurston, replied, "That's not for me to say. That's up to the boss."

"When he thinks I show enough, in other words when I start blocking as well as I did last year, I suppose I'll get it back," Bowman added dryly. "I didn't hurt anybody Sunday."

His current successor, Curry, "is doing a real fine job," he declared in response to another question, adding, "He's got me scared a little bit. He's one of the finest men I know. He's very religious, and he lives his life that way."

"We Get Together"

In keeping with the family feeling that Vince Lombardi has engendered since he launched the Packers' revival in 1959, Bowman assists the man who displaced him in mastering the positions and preparing for the next opponent.

"We get together — we did a lot more before than we do now, because he's been in there so long he knows most of the tricks," Ken explained. "We talk about personnel, what you can expect. And what you can do against 'em and what you can't."

Popular with his teammates, the ruddy-cheeked Rockford, Ill., native has acquired the moniker "Cat Ballou," because of his resemblance to Lee Marvin, who won the 1965 Academy Award for his performance in the film of that name.

"Cat," as he also is known, when his colleagues resort to the diminutive, intends to pursue a law career when he is finished with football, but his plans have struck a snag, he confided.

"I've been going to law school, but it's going to be kind of a problem to continue. I ran out of courses to take at Madison and there are only about three law schools in the country that offer a complete curriculum so that you can pick up enough credits in a half year. Virginia is probably the closest thing."

NOTES and NOTIONS

Three Midwest Conference it must generate more of an offense than it did in key games against North and Manitowoc. Chances are, the Terrors can.

Xavier over Premontre — This even-appearing battle features the Hawks' offense against the Cadel defense. The law of averages will be riding with Premontre, but the home field and the winning tradition will be in Xavier's corner for this title fray.

Packers over Lions — The Bays never have an easy time of it in Detroit, and this will be no exception. Green Bay's aerial attack and over-all defense should prove too much, however, for the Lions.

Michigan over Wisconsin — If the Badgers can shake off the disappointment of letting a win slip through their fingers last week and maintain the same caliber of play, they might spring an upset. The Wolverines, though, appear too tough on paper.

Lawrence over Grinnell — A psychological let-down, in the wake of the tough loss to Ripon, could prove disastrous to the Vikings. But, the odds are, they can bounce back and stop the winless Pioneers.

Appleton over West — The Terrors have the defensive equipment to stop West's explosive backs. The game is definitely in the toss-up category, however, and if AHS is to win, best in both teams. The Chutters Clintonville over Menasha — Encouraged by their win over Kimberly, the Truckers should roll.

New London over Shawano — The Bulldogs, eyeing a first-division finish, figure to triumph against an Indian team, which undoubtedly and understandably finds it hard to get up for a game since its tragedy of several weeks ago.

Little Nine Conference — Denmark over Omro. Hortonville over Snodden. Hilbert over Freedom. Reedsville over Brillion. Wrightstown over Winneconne.

Other NFL Games — Washington over Philadelphia. Cleveland over Atlanta. Baltimore over Los Angeles. Dallas over Pittsburgh. Minnesota over San Francisco. Chicago over St. Louis.

Other FRVC Games — Oshkosh over East. North over Fond du Lac. South over Manitowoc.

Other MC Games — Ripon over Carleton. Coe over Kewaunee. Beloit over Monmouth. St. Olaf over Cornell.

Other Games — Chilton over Elkhardt. Lake, Algoma over Bonduel. Oconto over Seymour. Pennington over Lourdes. Marietta over Central over Springs.

Wolves Top-Heavy Favorite, but UW Is Encouraged

Bruhn Cites Improved Play of Last Weekend for Confidence

BY JAMES R. POLK

The sophomore, burdened in his first game, moved 47 yards against Ohio State.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin's first defeat in Big Ten football this fall has brought its first encouragement toward three games. They led at one the St. Louis Cardinals.

Survival of its final four games stage in the final period and "He's something, isn't he?" against the same foe that Bruhn said. "There was big in Bruhn said of Schirke. Not only his kicking, but those kick-offs.

Bruhn, ending Wisconsin's returns of his and defensive record into its test has settled upon junior John Ryan. On his kicking he has great form and good pop. He's a lot day. The Badgers will be run gan. Boyajian, who began the like Bakken."

Wisconsin carries a 1-1-1 conference record into its test has settled upon junior John Ryan. On his kicking he has great form and good pop. He's a lot day. The Badgers will be run gan. Boyajian, who began the like Bakken."

Wisconsin's 2-1 overall slate is identical to that going into the same fray in 1965 and Michigan once again is a top-heavy favorite. But Badger coach Milt Bruhn sees some shreds of hope passed well. He called a good tery to see their record." Bruhn said "This will be the toughest after Wisconsin's 24 - 13 loss to Ohio State last week.

Nevertheless, Wisconsin is expected to charge its starting faced this year."

The Omro Foxes, who came from behind three times last week in their 19-18 upset of Reedsville, get a severe test of their ability to scrap Friday night when they invade mighty Denmark's stronghold.

While Omro was struggling to gain its third win of the season the Vikings rolled to their seventh consecutive victory by beating outmanned Shiocton, 41-7. With only two games remaining, the Vikings are top heavy choices for the conference honors. Second division clubs Omro and Hortonville remain to be faced.

Wrightstown and Winneconne, both 6-1 in the conference and runners-up to Denmark, square off Friday afternoon at Wrightstown in the Little Nine's top attraction for the week. The Tigers ground out a 26-6 triumph over Freedom, and the Wolves negotiated gale force winds to outlast Hilbert, 6-0, in encounters last weekend.

One night and two additional day contests are slated for the Little Nine Friday. Cellar-dwelling Shiocton, yet to win the league, plays host to Hortonville under the lights. Hilbert is at home to Freedom, and Brillion tests Reedsville on the Pantera's field.

Hortonville comes off a 20-0 win over Brillion. The Polar Bears didn't yield a yard on the ground, and held the Lions' passing attack to seven completions in 20 attempts.

Man Accused Of Bribe Files High Court Plea

Howard Meister's Attorneys Appeal To U. S. Tribunal

MADISON (AP) — Milwaukee banker Howard J. Meister, accused of telling a lobbyist to try to bribe a legislator, has challenged the charge before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorneys for Meister asked the nation's highest court Tuesday to take the case and grant a hearing on arguments that the indictment was worded wrong and that a key prosecutor was committed to a "personal vendetta" against the banker.

Meister is president of the West Side Bank of Milwaukee and is a former Milwaukee County Democratic chairman. Four of the nine justices of the Supreme Court must vote to accept the case before it can be heard.

Arraignment Monday
The arraignment of Meister is set for Monday. His trial is scheduled for Nov. 15. Both are expected to be delayed.

No decision on the request for the Supreme Court to hear the case is expected until possibly early next year.

Meister is accused of directing Dorothy Effinger, a lobbyist for his bank, to offer money to Assemblyman Earl H. Elfers, D-Trevor, to try to influence his vote on a bill to repeal the state's ban on branch banking.

The appeal is aimed at Asst. Atty. Gen. LeRoy L. Dalton, who guided much of the three-month local grand jury lobbying probe that led to the indictment of Meister, another banker, two assemblymen, a lobbyist, six banks and a banking association.

Personal Malice
Norman C. Skogstad of Milwaukee, Meister's attorney, charged Dalton "acted out of personal malice."

He said Dalton "had a personal dislike and personal vendetta toward the defendant."

Circuit Judge Edwin Wilkie of Madison rejected defense arguments this summer that the indictment should be cast out because of Dalton's participation in the investigation.

Skogstad told the Supreme Court that Meister's constitutional rights were violated because Judge Wilkie refused to call Dalton as a witness for questioning about his grand jury role.

Vaguely Worded
The appeal also argued the indictment was worded vaguely and illegally. Skogstad said the charge failed to specify the time and place that Miss Effinger made the alleged offer to the legislator.

The prosecution had replied earlier in Wilkie's court that the indictment accused Meister of giving Miss Effinger the instructions June 29, 1965, in the state capitol and that the offer, cited in the same sentence, allegedly took place at the same time and place.

The appeal asks the Supreme Court to overrule the Wisconsin Supreme Court's refusal, Sept. 26, to block Meister's scheduled arraignment on the same arguments.

Contents of the plea to the U.S. Supreme Court were made public when a copy was served on the state attorney general's office here Tuesday.

Miner Killed In Cave Ran Wrong Way

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Clinton Ralph Yates was six feet from safety when the rock ceiling of the coal mine in which he was working began to crumble. Yates ran 25 feet to his death.

His coworker, Eli Elswick, went in the other direction and escaped the cave in that buried Yates under hundreds of tons of slate.

Yates' body was brought out of the mine Tuesday night by a rescue crew that dug for 27 hours while the miner's relatives waited hopefully.

Yates, 25, married and the father of two, was operating a shuttle car about 3,500 feet from the entrance when the roof cracked. Elswick, a passenger, rolled from the car to safety.

State Teacher Jobs Are Filled

Early Shortage Report Showed Situation Critical

MADISON (AP) — The bleak prophecy in early August of 1,100 Wisconsin classrooms crammed with youngsters having no one to teach them has disappeared faster than pupils when the recess bell rings.

By the time elementary and secondary schools opened their doors in September, most teaching positions had been filled in one way or another, a survey made by the State Department of Public Instruction reports. Dr. Dale Irwin, research director for the department, said today there were about 400 vacancies—or one per cent of the state's 40,000 teaching positions—in early September.

"The teacher shortage was almost certainly worse than last year," said Irwin. "But whether I could call the over-all situation critical, I really couldn't say."

William Kahl, state superintendent of public instruction, announced the 1,100 vacancies just a month before school start-up, and reports called Wisconsin's shortage one of the worst in the nation.

Irwin said his survey of 427 schools showed some classes were canceled and principals were forced to take on teaching duties in some cases. "This was not frequent, but it said

College Council Selects President

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Dr. James H. Robertson of the University of Michigan has been elected president of the National Collegiate Honors Council.

The council was formed to exchange ideas on how to select students and faculty members for honors programs.

More often, he said, school administrators divided three classrooms among two teachers, and recruited substitute teachers for fulltime duty.

In addition, a number of temporary one-year teaching certificates were issued to those lacking complete requirements to be licensed by the state, Irwin said.

Walker Prep Back of Week

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rick Walker, a halfback who scored 23 touchdowns in leading Durand to an unbeaten season, was named Associated Press Wisconsin high school Player of the Week today.

Walker, a 5-foot-8, 165-pound senior, capped his prep career with a five-touchdown performance against Clear Lake last Friday.

It was the second time this season Walker has scored five touchdowns in a game for Wisconsin. He is straight in total offense against top-ranked small high school outscored opponents 420 to 25 this season.

He's an exciting runner," Adler described Walker as a hard worker who works very hard. "Whenever he gets outside, you know he's going to get on to college."

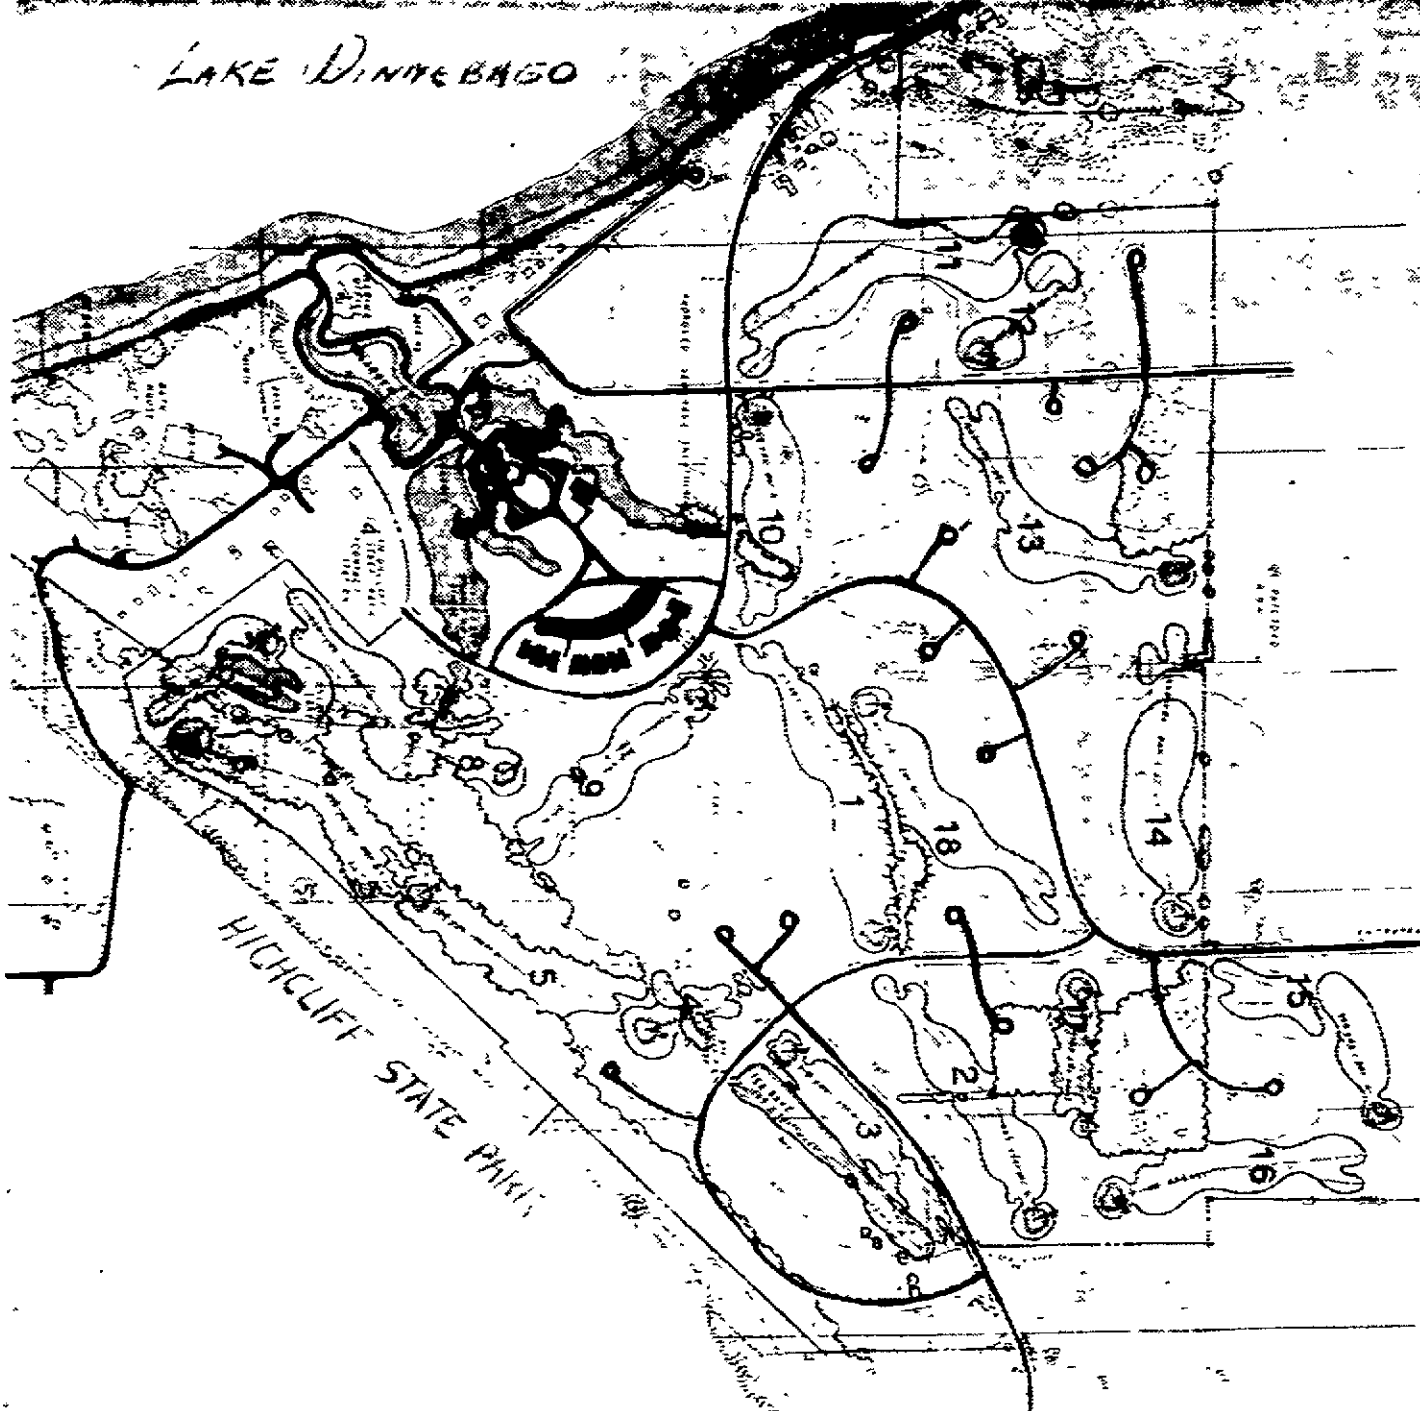

Carried 66 Times — Walker carried the ball on 63 times for scrimmage but of Racine Horlick, Geoff Poole yards rushing against Racine scored 19 touchdowns—an average of Madison Edgewood, Tom Park.

Whiting of Chippewa Falls, Steve Pelot of Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, John Hauser of Chilton, Terry Gavin of South Milwaukee and Steve Hanaman of Beloit.

Tagge passed for five touchdowns and 270 yards against Oshkosh. Heinka scored twice in Horlick's defeat of rated Madison La Follette. Poole passed for two touchdowns against Beaver Dam.

Whiting racked up 297 yards in total offense against La Follette. Pelot picked up 151 yards rushing against Eau Claire. Regis and intercepted two passes. Hauser accounted for four touchdowns and completed 12 of 24 passes for 189 yards against Plymouth.

Gavin scored three touchdowns and gained 167 yards against West Allis Central. Hanum, hampered by injuries this season, scored three touchdowns, set up another with a week's award were Jerry Tagge cover of a blocked punt, kicked of Green Bay West, Bill Heinka four extra points and gained 116 yards rushing against Racine.

76ers Pummel Baltimore for Fourth Straight

Now Two Victories
Shy of Consecutive Win Streak Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Basketball Association's season is only a few weeks old but already the Philadelphia 76ers are working on a league record.

The 76ers, defending regular season Eastern Division champions, belted Baltimore Tuesday night 130-110 for their 15th straight regular-season victory. They have won four this season, which is a carryover streak of 11 at the end of last year, gives them 15.

The league record for most consecutive victories is 17 set by the old Washington team in 1946 and equaled by the Boston Celtics in 1959.

Tuesday night's game with Baltimore might be placed in the laughter category. Led by big Wilt Chamberlain, devastating as always inside, and the sharp outside-shooting Hal Greer, the 76ers virtually toyed with the winless Bullets, who dropped their fifth straight.

Chamberlain easily controlled the backboards with 22 rebounds and scored 20 points. Greer collected 21, including a crowd-pleaser just short of half court as the horn sounded the end of the third period.

The Philadelphia - Baltimore game was the only action in the NBA Tuesday night but there are two games tonight with Cincinnati at Baltimore and New York at Los Angeles.

Irish Heavy Favorite Liska Picks Michigan By 1 TD Over Badgers

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Indian Summer is drawing to an end and the Old Midwest Football Scout hasn't been scalped too badly. Stanford's gift victory from Illinois was his only stumble last weekend. So he goes into a trance for the final Saturday of October with a 32-12-2 record and a .727 guessing average.

Let's try these audibles:

Michigan State 24, Northwest 13—Pride cometh before a fall, except MSU's Spartans still are drawing a bead on Notre Dame's No. 1 spot in the national AP poll. Northwestern has the heart, but not the horses.

Purdue 19, Illinois 12—Last season, Purdue stumbled from a 14-10 loss against Michigan State to a 21-0 spanking from Illinois. History won't repeat, even though Purdue was clobbered by Michigan State 41-20 last Saturday. This time, Purdue is mad instead of stunned—and the scent of roses still is in the air.

Notre Dame 35, Navy 7—The top-ranked Irish simply will conjure up a powerful Eddy on the ground and won't even miss injured Jim Seymour. Anyhow, the line forms to the right for Irish guys waiting to catch the tosses of Terry Hanratty. And don't forget the Irish pillars of stone on defense.

Michigan 21, Wisconsin 13—Michigan State should be happy it didn't have to play Michigan along about right now. The Wolverines may have one of the nation's most stinging, well-blended attacks. The Badgers could be sassier with their visit to Ouchville in Buckeye land behind them.

Ohio State 14, Minnesota 7—The Buckeyes will be missing the friendly frenzy of home fanatics in this one. And the Gophers won't be very hospitable after that 49-0 goring at Michigan. Buckeye fullback Paul Hudson is a good one.

Indiana 18, Iowa 13—This is as good a chance as any for the Hawkeyes to end their string of 15 straight Big Ten defeats. Yet the Hoosiers, with a 1-1-1 record are trying on the conference Cinderella cleats.

Solid results from Gov. Knowles will save our water resources

In his first year in office, Governor Knowles moved quickly to meet Wisconsin's multiplying problems of water resource management. He put knowledgeable people together, formulated a comprehensive program.

By June of this year, the program was enacted, a program that led U.S. Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall (in Chicago on Sept. 15, 1966) to call a model, and urge all other states to follow the Wisconsin lead.

For the first time the three essentials of water management are combined. A $300 million loan program for communities to use for treatment plants and pollution abatement, along with a doubled technical staff, stronger enforcement and incentives to industry.

New, total-resource planning with state and regional advisory boards, quality standards and feasibility studies. And finally, consolidation of water, wetlands and shorelands management in one agency.

All in all, an ideal combination for local-state cooperation. It is the only way to successful pollution control. It affords ample opportunity to adapt useful federal programs.

But water management is only part of Governor Knowles' continuing emphasis on conservation. There have been such steps as "wild river" designations, added fire and forest protection and Wolf River preservation.

Our state's natural beauty will be protected under the new Wisconsin Council on Natural Beauty. County natural beauty councils will all be working together for the first time.

And our great Outdoor Recreation Act Program is being studied and evaluated by a 22-man task force, looking at specific operations in ten categories, from policy to funding.

Sensible, coordinated water resource management, oriented to results • Progress in other areas of conservation • Wild river protection • Natural beauty preserved • The ten-year outdoor program under searching evaluation for the future.

More and better post-high school facilities ☐ Increased state aid to local schools ☐ Better highways, built sooner ☐ Driver education, safety enforcement ☐ Job opportunity and high-level prosperity ☐ Top-rated new water resource management plan ☐ Significant Medicare and Social Security amendments ☐ Equal opportunity ☐ More services per tax dollar.

...he gets things done in water management!

Conn Relates Details of Title Fight Fiasco, Nightmarish Crowd

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "How about that? The first time I do something right and they jump all over me," the Pittsburgh businessman said.

Relaxing in the coffee shop of a Las Vegas hotel Tuesday afternoon was Billy Conn, former light heavyweight boxing champion who created what he calls a "major-league riot" in Mexico City last weekend by stopping the Carlos Ortiz-Sugar Ramos lightweight title fight.

Conn, who stopped in Las Vegas to visit friends on his way back to his true business in Pittsburgh, can laugh about the incident now.

"That's pretty good isn't it?" he said. "The first time a guy is ever in the country and he starts an international incident."

Different Saturday

Conn admits the story may be funny now, but it wasn't funny Saturday night when he stopped the fight and declared Ortiz the winner and still lightweight champion.

"They say Billy Conn left the ring after he stopped the fight. Well, what was he supposed to do stand there and argue with a crowd?"

"I had a decision to make," Conn added. "I thought to myself, 'if you don't stop the fight and let them kill each other they'll jump all over you. But if you stop the fight now they'll jump all over you anyway.'"

"Then I thought, 'If you stop it right now you'll be doing the right thing. Then get out of the ring like a greased banana.'"

Conn said he was lucky to get through the crowd, which threw stones, bottles and coins into the ring.

Fans Play Rough

Ortiz' manager, Bill Daly, was struck on the head and cut by an object thrown from the crowd. Ortiz was knocked down as he tried to get to his dressing room. Conn said the doctor officiating at the fight, Dr. Gilbert Bolanos Cacho, also was struck on the head.

"I didn't run from the ring," Conn said. "I just walked real slow. And boy, did they ever let me have it. They'd punch me from behind after I had passed. They wouldn't hit me from the front."

Conn said he doesn't regret making the decision to stop the fight. "It was a matter of letting Ramos get hurt real bad, or giving him a chance to fight again," he said.

"A horse doctor would have stopped the fight," Conn said. "Two Mexican doctors who were in the crowd later came to the dressing room and told me I had done the right thing."

Conn said he returned to his hotel after the fight, and left

Dodger Series Shares Set All-Time Mark

$8,189 Figure Is Most Ever Paid to Losing Team Players

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who three weeks ago established a fistful of World Series records they'd like to forget, have set another Series mark they can afford to remember.

The Dodgers, beaten in four straight games by the Baltimore Orioles and shut out over the last 33 innings, scored heavily Tuesday when the official distribution of series receipts was announced by Commissioner William D. Eckert's office.

Each full share for the Dodgers was worth $8,189.35, a record for Series losers. The Orioles' full shares were $11,683.04 — short of the record of $12,734 per-man set by Los Angeles in dividing the spoils of its 1963 sweep over the New York Yankees.

The total player pool was a record $1,044,042.65 but the Orioles, in voting 34 full shares and cutting in 47 persons, wound up with the second-best payoff per-man in Series history. The Dodgers voted 29 full shares in 1963.

This year the Dodgers voted 34 full shares, breaking the losers' mark set by the 1963 Yankees, whose full shares amounted to $7,874.32 apiece.

Full shares for Minnesota, runner-up in the American League, and San Francisco, second in the National, amounted to $2,235.18 and $2,256.40, respectively.

Dairy Co-op Blasts Lucey For Stand on Colored Oleo

Fond du Lac Convention Names Kaukauna Man Vice President

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

FOND DU LAC — Delegates to Pure Milk Product Co-Op's (PMPC) 37th annual meeting Tuesday were urged to start a political campaign against Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey for his stand "guaranteeing tax free colored oleo" in the state if he is elected governor.

Donald Uelmen, a PMPC director from Eden, and first vice president, called the Lucey move a "flagrant desperate attempt" to woo votes by sacrificing the state's billion dollar dairy industry.

Uelmen said he has been a card-carrying member of the Democratic Party as long as Lucey and hated to make the move, but the candidate's advertised stand prompted it.

Adopt Resolution

Uelmen also authored a resolution adopted unanimously by the delegates in which they "abhorred" Lucey's political advertising on the issue. Uelmen said it was time for the State 49 a half mile south of delegates to "stand up political Scandinavia and overturned in a ly" and vote against Lucey ditch.

Charles H. Rodgers, 28, route Uelmen noted that PMPC truck owned by William represented approximately 30-Feathers, Waupaca, escaped 000 votes, counting members injury.

County police said the accident was caused by a split rim on the one of the truck's front wheels. The potatoes were turer's should be required to transfered to another truck meet the same standards that before the wreckage could be hauled away. No estimate of damage was set.

Brillion Council Okays Building Code Change For Mobile Home Court

BRILLION — A city planning commission recommendation to delete a portion of the building code which forbids mobile homes in the city, was okayed by the city council Monday.

The move, along with the council's approval of the Brillion Iron Works' $5,500 bid for an 18-acre city-owned parcel of land, paves the way for establishment of a 50 to 60 unit mobile home court on the useable 5 1/2-acre portion of the tract.

Other planning commission recommendations approved were rezoning of an area from the west city limits 520 feet east and south of National Avenue from single residential to multiple residential and amending the city map for the proposed relocation of S. Main Street.

The latter change is in accordance with the State Highway Commission because Main Street is State 114.

Ask for Crossing

It is no longer necessary for window sills to be at least 3 1/2 feet above floor level, according to another building code change.

The city is making a third session at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Calumet Approves 5-Man Plan Group

Board Appropriates $12,000 To Start Comprehensive Study

CHILTON — The first step toward realization of a county comprehensive plan was taken Tuesday when county supervisors approved the establishment of a five-man planning committee and appropriated $12,000 for planning purposes.

Board chairman, G. J. Hipke will head the committee and appoint the remaining members subject to board approval.

This committee will coordinate the county with state and federal agencies and act as liaison with the State Department of Resource Development and with the Farmers Home Administration for county planning purposes.

Need Recognized

The need for a comprehensive plan had previously been recognized by the board to qualify the county and its municipalities for federal aids which are available when a plan exists.

This planning commission was further authorized to investigate ways to implement the comprehensive plan including the preparation of necessary resolutions for board approval and the investigation of various private planning firms.

It is expected that the county's cost of comprehensive planning can be partially defrayed by the federal government's 701 program which pays up to two-thirds of the total cost.

One of the major areas in which a comprehensive plan is expected to assist Calumet County is water supply and sewage disposal.

Proposed '67 Budget For County

WAUPACA — A proposed record tax levy of $1,062,010 to help finance the 1967 budget has been approved by the Waupaca County Board's finance committee and will be presented to the county board Nov. 4, the first day of the annual five-day fall session.

The budget has asked for operating expenditures of $1,992,013 with highway proposal seeking $2,651,600 for a total budget of $4,643,613.

Although the new levy is $99,737 more than the current levy, the tax rate will remain at $3.75 per $1,000 equalized valuation. Retaining the rate was made possible by an increase in the county's equalized valuation plus the use of $50,000 from the general fund.

Operating Expenditures

Providing the budget is adopted without change, expenditures for operating all county government departments except the highway division will be $1,992,013 with anticipated revenue estimated at $1,390,003 leaving a total of $602,010 to be raised by local taxes.

Highway department expenditures have been estimated at $2,651,600 and anticipated highway revenues set at $1,601,600 leaving a balance of $460,000 to be raised through local taxes.

The new equalized valuation of the county has been established at $180,518,735, an increase of more than $11 million over last year's valuation of $166,743,280.

Using the $3.75 tax rate, $1,037,982 will be raised by county taxes, leaving a deficit of $24,022. This amount will be offset by the $50,000 general fund transfer leaving a contingency of $25,972 in the proposed budget.

Budgets Reviewed

Finance committee members reviewed budgets of the various departments Monday and Tuesday and arrived at the proposed 1967 budget late Tuesday afternoon.

County Clerk Robert Backer said changes have been made in the rough draft of the budget and the proposal will be ready for printing within a few days. He did not list the increase in the various department budgets, but said there have been general increases in all budgets which were submitted to the committee.

The proposed budget will be presented to the county board during the Nov. 4 morning session. The hearing and adoption of the budget will be during the morning session of Nov. 14.

Tractors Near End of Long Pull for 'Viet Nam Cheese'

WAUPACA — The Cheese for Viet Nam tractor caravans which started last Wednesday from five different points in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan converged today on Stevens Point with enough funds to send more than 20 tons of cheese to American soldiers in Viet Nam.

In a week-long drive through the states, more than 1,000 tractors took part. Caravans started from Vulcan, Mich., Green Bay, Madison, LaCrosse and in Bayfield County. In addition to the main caravans, several smaller groups traveled other routes to join a main caravan.

Although all tractors that took part were not to reach Stevens Point today, more than 300 were parked at the Ben Klismith farm, four miles east of that city.

Back to Work

Alfred Mellen, general chairman of the drive, said many farmers joined one of the caravans for a couple of days while it passed through their home counties and then they returned to work on the corn harvest.

Caravan masters and drivers said they received excellent cooperation from the citizens of the communities they passed through. "Wherever we went, people were more than willing to make contributions to the fund," one caravan master said.

At the start of the Vulcan caravan, the AFL-CIO labor union pledged a $1,000 contribution. Along the route individual contributions of up to $100 were received, Mellen said. When the Green Bay caravan detoured off U.S. 10

1966 Calumet Fair Reported a Profit

Rising Costs May Prompt Boost In Admission Prices, Board Told

CHILTON — A profit of $1,149 remaining days boosted receipts was realized this year by the Calumet County Fair. Fair Association Secretary Herbert Harder reported Tuesday to the Calumet County Board.

Compared with the $1,160 deficit of 1964, this showed a considerable gain, he pointed out. However, to offset rising overhead in future years, it may be necessary to increase gate admission fees about 25 cents, he said.

Harder said that a record $6,915 will be paid in premiums compared with $6,199 in 1965. Adult exhibitors increased from 136 to 143 and junior exhibitors jumped from 679 in 1965 and 694 this year.

Harder said the increased interest on the part of exhibitors is healthy and should be encouraged.

Aids to Increase

The county allocated $5,000 to finance the fair while state aids for last year's premiums amounted to $4,353. State aid for 1966 premiums is expected to be $4,500.

Although rain on Friday and Saturday got the fair off to a slow start, Martin Bankert, association president, said, the good weather on the two

Halloween Plans Set at New London

NEW LONDON — Plans for the annual Jaycee Halloween program for youngsters of the community have been completed.

Children participating in the parade are to be at Villa St. Vincent at 6:30 p.m. so the parade can form and judges can examine costumes. Originality of design will be a factor in judging. Ten prizes will be awarded.

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. and will proceed through the main business area to the Washington School where cartoons and a movie will be shown and treats handed out afterward.

The fire department, police department and the Waupaca County volunteer of the 40 at 8 will participate in the parade.

Jaycees committee members are George Plowman, chairman; James Sadoski, Neil Malweg, Thomas Bergman, Mike Barrington and Roger Dietz.

Ron Radies qualified for the state cross-country meet at the sectional meet Saturday at Waupaca finishing in second place behind Greg Aubrey, Green Bay Southwest. Radies won the conference meet the week before and earlier this year set a school record of 10:48.5. The Mustang distance runner is a senior. The state meet will be at Hartford this Saturday. Waupaca Youth Changes Pleas; Sentenced to Jail

WAUPACA — Marilyn W. Ehrenberg, 19, route 2, Waupaca, pleaded guilty to two charges of disorderly conduct Tuesday when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when he was unable to pay fines totaling $100.

Ehrenberg was arrested Oct. 16 along with five others after being involved in a brawl at a dance. He had entered innocent pleas to both charges. There was more machinery exhibited this year, he said, and the merchants building was filled to capacity. Several potential exhibitors were turned away.

Total indebtedness on fair-15 days in jail on each of the ground buildings amounts to $21,000. Harder said.

Weyauwega Will Duel Manawa '11'

Wolves Bid for Share of CWC Crown Friday Night

Weyauwega will be out to wrap up the championship of the Central Wisconsin Conference when the Indians travel to Manawa in the circuit's feature game Friday night.

Manawa, still in the running with a 4-1 record, will try to gain a share of the crown with a victory.

Other games Friday will have Amherst at Marion and Iola-Scandia at Waupaca. Wittenberg draws a bye.

Weyauwega clinched at least a tie for the title by handing Iola-Scandia its first loss of the conference campaign last week.

The powerful Indians will be keying on halfback Tom Griffin of Manawa, who scored three touchdowns against Iola-Scandia last weekend. Griffin gained 109 yards in 17 carries in that game. Bob Passel also ran well for the Wolves and gained 90 yards in 14 attempts.

Waupaca will be out to even its record at 3-3 at the expense of Iola-Scandia. The latter is in the cellar with a 0-4 record and the Comets will go into the game as heavy favorites.

Waupaca had little trouble last Saturday as the Comets mail them to voters through scored 20 points in the first Nov. 4.

Calumet Board Okays Hiring Extra Patrolman

Traffic Force to be Expanded to 6 Men to Provide Better Coverage on County Roads

CHILTON — Calumet County Board supervisors Tuesday authorized the committee for the protection of persons and property to hire an additional county traffic patrolman.

The decision was made following the appearance of county traffic patrol Capt. Victor Juno, who outlined the need for a sixth man on the county force.

Although a fifth man was added to the force four years ago, he said, additional help is necessary to insure that two men are on duty on the county roads at all times. With six men on the patrol force, Juno said, supervisors, one patrolman will work days and serve as a court officer. This person also could be made available to the sheriff to investigate petty complaints and to accompany the sheriff on calls requiring two persons.

Time Coming

With six men, the vacation periods would be covered more adequately as would days off due to sick leave and overtime. Now, he said, many patrolmen had time coming but were unable to take the days off to which they were entitled.

Juno said it is desirable to have two patrolmen on duty in the county at all times — one covering the northern half and one the southern. At present if one man is escorting a funeral or taking care of an accident, this leaves only one man remaining on duty. A six-man force would solve this problem, Juno further reported that he felt Calumet County has a low accident rate. As of Oct. 24, 1965, there were 236 accidents with 173 injured and nine killed. This year there have been 244 accidents with 160 injured and eight killed.

Through Traffic

Although the traffic is small, he pointed out, it is surrounded by larger counties and its roads carry through traffic.

County Patrolman Irvan Vice said a 10-week police training program would be conducted in the county, as it was last year. The program is mandatory for county patrolmen and invitations are extended to policemen from Holstein and Kiel. He said the expanded facilities at the new jail office annex building have permitted such a program to be offered.

Co-Op Asks No Compromise on Colored Oleo

PMPC's Affeldt Says Let State Legislature Decide

FOND DU LAC — "Attempts to buy votes by lowering the standards to accept substitute for dairy products can be taken as nothing other than pure brainwashing by this convention," Paul Affeldt, president of Pure Milk Products Cooperative, told delegates to the annual meeting here Tuesday.

Affeldt aimed his barbs specifically as oleo and acknowledged the dairy industry "still had a job on our hands" regarding it.

"With labor union officials and politicians professing to be the friend of the family sized farmer... but still advertising and soliciting for the vote of the small farmer by telling him that limitations are necessary to woo the future votes of consumers is hogwash," Affeldt charged.

"The laboring man is a consumer the same as the family-size farmer," he said.

Possibility Recognized

The president, however, recognized the possibility of future state legislation favoring the entry of colored oleo into Wisconsin. He said, "It would be much better to lose the imitation battle by fighting for what we feel is right rather than listen to the whims of those that would seek to woo you today and completely forget you tomorrow."

Affeldt said the issues should be decided in the legislature and not by political candidates.

The president also called for cheese import hearings stressing quality and identification.

Disagreement Costly

The disagreement between co-ops on a proposed federal milk order for Chicago has been costly to producers, he said. He urged support for Federate-Cooperative in seeking accord.

Affeldt also stressed continued advertising of dairy products. He asked backing for a uniform grade of milk for Wisconsin. He said it was a coming thing and deserved the Co-op's support.

Producers also have suffered from federal government inaction in not setting a supply-demand milk price factor in 11 Midwest order markets. He also scorned the USDA's lack of knowledge "as to whether cheddar cheese is being imported as colby cheese. The two are very similar, but cheddar imports are restricted."

Industry Hurt

The decision to import cheese has hurt the industry at a time when prices were beginning to strengthen. The delay in cheese market hearings also has weakened the cheese market, he said.

Affeldt asked for legislation requiring the federal Food and Drug Administration to inspect all dairy products and certify that they are produced under the same quality standards as those in the U.S.

The president, however, took note of several recent favorable federal actions. He cited extension of the $4 price support until March 31, 1968, extending the school milk program for four years and the purchase of butter and cheese.

The couple was married July 30, 1960, and separated April 18, 1966. Custody of two children was awarded to Mrs. Knitt. Knitt was ordered to pay $100 per month support for the children. A property settlement was also ordered.

Mrs. Knitt charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

Iola Youth Hurt as Car Leaves Road, Hits Post, Embankment

IOLA — Richard Carper, 18, route 2, Iola, suffered a cut on his chin and a bruised leg at 12:30 a.m. Monday, when the car he was driving ran off State 161 three miles east of Iola, and struck a driveway embankment and mailbox.

Carper told county police he fell asleep. The westbound car traveled approximately 275 feet in a ditch before crossing the private driveway and striking the mailbox. The 1959 model car Carper was driving was listed as demolished. Carper was advised to see a doctor for treatment of his injuries.

The Family Role in the Economy

There is an aspect to the national economy today which has received little public discussion, which in fact is mentioned only in hushed tones. It is that all of us have been on a spending spree for quite a spell now, a spree financed in large part by easy credit, representing at least in part borrowing beyond our means.

Until about a year ago we were operating under a government fiscal philosophy known as easy money. These policies encouraged private borrowing and they encouraged lending institutions to extend liberal credit. In this atmosphere second and third and even fourth mortgages could be arranged to obviate down payments, automobiles and household appliances could be financed over periods up to 48 months, in some cases exceeding the useful life of the collateral, and personal loans were available without strict security.

After a number of successive years under these conditions the supply of money began to dry up about a year ago. Some commercial banks had loans up near their legal limits. The competition among all lending institutions for deposits became intense and interest rates began to rise. The Federal Reserve Board became concerned enough last December to start putting on the brakes.

The major question was and still is whether those brakes can be applied without completely halting the upswing in the economy. The danger always existed it would start rolling back downhill.

The downward adjustment in the stock market reflected this concern. And the drop in security values also helped to tighten up the money supply, since such investments in many cases supply the collateral for borrowing.

The average family is now beginning to feel the pinch. Earlier this year the federal government took two bigger bites out of the wage earners take-home pay when withholding for Social Security and income taxes both increased. Another rise in Social Security taxes takes effect Jan. 1. Meanwhile the government-sponsored inflation forced many prices higher, including those food prices which some housewives are now protesting. Added to this price-wage squeeze was the important fact that the average family faced fixed installment payments on those items it has been buying on credit, the house, the car, appliances, furniture, even vacations. And in some cases the interest charges on such debt began to rise also.

We are in a period of adjustment in the national economy. After the election is over the Johnson Administration may face up to its responsibilities more realistically. It will undoubtedly recommend an increase in corporate income taxes. That will be the first step, since corporations don't vote. But by next year, if the inflationary pressures continue, an increase in personal taxes is possible.

All of us should realize what is happening. The wise family budget manager will accept the fact that this is a time for belt-tightening, particularly on those purchases where additional borrowing is concerned.

Street Program Moving

Appleton's street resurfacing program is deserving of an E-for-excellence.

Over the past three to four years several streets have taken a terrific beating due to the excavation required for multi-million dollar sewer projects which have eliminated chronic flooding problems. Now that the lion's share of the underground work has been completed in the central city and outlying regions, the rough streets given top priority for treatment are getting a smooth coat of blacktop, putting them in first-class condition.

Needless to say, it was refreshing at a recent Common Council hearing to hear an older woman go to bat for the resurfacing program when many neighbors in her block were objecting to the reasonable assessment rate involved. Calling special attention to her street of many years vintage, she said it wasn't meant to last forever and she was willing to pay her fair share to get the thoroughfare fixed up. It's no wonder aldermen greeted her remarks with applause, and one Council member observed that it was unusual for someone to appear and express appreciation for the job the city was trying to do.

It's surprising the number of local residents who did appear and asked to have street resurfacing postponed for another year, yet some were probably those who have been writing letters to the editor and their aldermen asking when the city was going to do something about the condition of its streets.

And for those who have inquired, the city is not needlessly cutting up newly resurfaced streets. After the resurfacing machine passes over manholes, the latter are uncovered and reinforced around the edges to prevent them from heaving.

Reprieve for Smokers?

A possible reprieve for heavy cigarette smokers is seen in the announcement of a "breakthrough" discovery which has isolated a major cancer-causing element in cigarette smoke.

A member of the U. S. Surgeon General's Advisory Committee feels that "once an element is isolated, there is no problem eliminating it." Dr. Charles LeMaistre said that more information on the finding by a Texas medical school will be released in the future.

The discovery may provide the answer for heavy smokers who have had trouble rationalizing their habit in the face of research which has linked lung cancer and cigarette smoking. Nonsmokers have found it hard to understand how a habit can have such a hold on persons in the face of offensive smell on the breath and in clothes, the expense (thousands of dollars in a lifetime) and even a shortened life.

It may be that cigarette users soon will be able to puff away in the secure knowledge that the element which has been attacked as cancer-causing has been eliminated from their favorite brand. While spokesmen for the tobacco industry have maintained there is no scientific proof that cigarette smoking was a cause of lung cancer, their arguments have been weak compared with the surgeon general's report of 1964 and the thousands of experiments which have verified the findings.

Now it appears that these firms may not have to try to prove their point any longer, but can eliminate the stigma which has hung over cigarettes merely by refining their product and reducing the harm that stems from smoking. Then smokers will have to worry only about contacting chronic bronchitis or emphysema.

Looking Backward

Maneuvering for Election Day

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 27, 1866.

Judge Howe's Radical Disunion supporters rarely attempt to defend his political course, "as crooked as a rail fence," or explain the continuance of inconsistencies sprinkled all over it.

They content themselves with assailing Doolittle, Randall and others, who are waging a good political battle against their heresies, just as if they were candidates for office or performer!

Judge Howe is a candidate, self constituted, it is true, but with the acquiescence of the Rober Regency at Madison which controls the Radical Disunion forces and bids them keep silent or speak as suits its whim.

A while ago, and during the continuance of the war of the rebellion, Howe made a strong argument from his place in the Senate, vindicating the right of Arkansas to representation in that Senate. Since that time, from the same seat, he proclaimed his advocacy of the doctrine that Arkansas and 10 other States ceased to exist as States and had committed "State Suicide" on account of the participation of a majority of their citizens in that same Rebellion!

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Oct. 22, 1941.

Another United States ship, the American freighter Lehigh, was torpedoed, this time off the coast of Africa. The entire crew was reported saved and 22 men were larded at Bathurst by the British ship Vimy and another 22 were reported safe at Freetown. The ship's new attack spurred the U.S. Senate drive for the repeal of the Neutrality Act. Miss Mildred Carter, New London, recently elected Star Point Ruth of the Grand Chapter of Wisconsin of the Easter Star, was honored by her local chapter. She was worthy matron of the New London OES.

Bernice Pingel, route 1, Appleton, was the new president of the Appleton High School Commercial Club. Other officers included Elaine Hartzheim, vice president; Laverne Lust, secretary; Inez Endter, treasurer, and Eleanor Leisinger, historian.

10 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Oct. 24, 1956.

Miss Judith Jensen, Menasha, was to represent her sophomore class at Wayland Academy at Beaver Dam in the school's homecoming court of honor.

Miss Shirley Parker, Neenah, was chosen for the leading role in the play "Just Imagine" at Wisconsin State College-Oshkosh. Miss Parker was a junior member of the Student Council and also served as typing editor of the college newspaper.

Taking part in a one-act play at Appleton High School were Luann Zimmerman, Mary Quella, Sallie Coggeshall, John Kellogg, Katie Farnsworth, Danl. Raley and Sandy Dominowski.

'He says he must have burned his credit card by mistake.'

Taylor Writes

Just Because People Are Better Off No Sign They Are Less Discontented

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

White House insiders say President Johnson is perplexed (downright mystified) about his popularity's fall in the polls when millions "never had it so good."

They agree that the button of Dr. Gallup's foil slithers through the chinks of Mr. Johnson's self-esteem and strikes the place where he keeps his heart. Moments come when the mystery seems to drop a pall over the White House like a catch-net hanging from the ceiling.

Taylor

Seeing Mr. Johnson on his campaigning trips blaring all his bugles and trumpets, violas and contra bassoons you might never suspect this. But there is an element of deep personal pathos in the struggle.

CLIMB WAS HARD

He has climbed high and as a natural result there is a precipice at his feet. The climb has been hard; now, looking down, he must feel dizzy, and even nauseated — appalled at the strange gulf that has opened below him. But Mr. Johnson is making a common mistake.

It is utterly wrong to assume that because people are "better off" they're, therefore, less discontented. This confuses cause and effect.

If Mr. Johnson consulted leading psychologists he would be told an established fact. Discontent among millions is often created, not retarded, as they approach a goal they desire.

Difficulties endured with patience when they are inevitable become intolerable as soon as you can hope to escape them.

More than 100 years ago de Tocqueville described this fundamental in his analysis of the situation that prevailed in France before her 1789 Revolution.

In all French history the people's condition had never improved so rapidly and broadly as during the previous 20 years. There were only seven prisoners in the Bastille the day it was stormed by the people. Yet de Tocqueville notes that "the pre-Revolution French found their position the more intolerable the better it became."

Writer Sidney J. Harris makes the same observation: "Discontent is highest when conditions have so improved that poverty and misery no longer seem inevitable 'acts of God' and hitherto-dim ideals seem nearly within reach."

Endorsing this, famous British psychologist Dr. J.A.C. Brown explains that "many very poor people are not frustrated; they accept their condition and rationalize it." Their feeling and frustration starts when things turn the better for them.

There's an old Italian saying, too, that if you can't do anything about something, pretend it doesn't exist. Machiavelli wrote it in the years when he strode sourly through the streets of Florence.

Italy "never had it so good" as today, yet there were labor protest riots in the streets of Rome on October 7 in spite of the fact that Italian Communist leader Luigi Longo currently cries that his party is losing memberships at an alarming rate.

The Japanese emerging into new prosperities are emerging into new frustrations and disorders which, the Prime Minister says, amaze even the Japanese Cabinet.

The West Germans "never had it so good." Yet former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer recently stated to The New York Times that he notices a streak of discontent in a younger generation that is far better off than its forefathers "but is not sufficiently tied to history's bitter lessons of experience."

I was in horror-stricken London on the awful, agonizing Sunday, May 10, 1941, when Hitler sent over 1,200 bombers. This was London's martyrdom — the largest devastation attack of the war. The Nazi radio announced the city ceased to exist. The enemy was wrong. The Londoners stood still stoically, as they stood all the blitzes. But a few years later, when the blitzes were long over and everyone felt the war was won, the spasmodic V-1 and V-2 raids that were cream puffs compared to the previous period seemed harder to take, and encountered more grumbling and were far more frustrating. I've never known anyone who was there who didn't agree this is true.

President Johnson's mystification notwithstanding, the de Tocqueville observation sheds its own light on today's boiling dissatisfaction within the Negro movement.

Surely, the Negro is much better off than ever before. The Negro is much closer to full civil rights and other advances than any Negro leader would have thought possible only a few years ago.

The mystery is no mystery; it's history.

Safe Crackers Find Combination Inside After Hours' Work

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Burglars worked through the early morning hours to pull a safe from a wall at Children's Medical Center, move it to another room and crack it open.

All they found inside was an envelope with the notation: "combination to safe."

Doctors said the combination was locked inside the safe inadvertently when it was installed about a year ago and they never bothered to attempt to open it.

Farmer Pays $78 but Prosecution Cost $448

AUCKLAND (AP) — Sometimes it costs much more to enforce the law than to break it. The Akaroa County Council, in New Zealand has discovered.

The council prosecuted a farmer because his fence encroached on a public road. To take the case to court the council had to pay 160 New Zealand pounds ($448) in lawyer's fees and 41 pounds ($131) to its lawyer. These charges totaled more than eight times the amount the farmer was fined.

Wisconsin Report

Governor Candidates Are Both Experienced In State Government

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Whatever the judgment of the electorate on the merits of the two men who are keynoting the election campaign in their contest for the governorship, a noteworthy aspect of the fight is the unusual understanding and knowledge of both of them of the state government they want to command.

Wyngaard

Rarely have the voters of Wisconsin been offered a choice of major party nominees for state executive leadership that has been quite as impressive.

In experience and study and direct involvement in the problems and practices of state government, Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey may be the two most apt contenders of the last generation or more.

Their professional qualifications, as politicians, are not likely to be visible, at least as clearly, to the rank and file voter who sees them through the haze of the television promotions, the billboards, and the publicity releases which are prepared by staff advisors and tend to blur their real personalities in the traditions of campaign mechanics. They come through better in the intimacy of the private interview, when interested citizens are able to put directly, out of the ferocious context of the campaign hall, relevant questions testing both their knowledge of state problems, and their reactions to them and their prescriptions for their solution.

SIMILARITIES

Doubtless in a broadly philosophical measurement there are substantial differences in the ideas, beliefs, values and ultimate purposes of these rivals. Knowles in his essential disposition is a conservative. He quite evidently has been persuaded to endorse programs and initiatives that would not have occurred to him if he had remained in his New Richmond law office two years ago and had not volunteered for the considerable responsibilities and the complex problems of leading an explosively growing state government in dynamically changing times. Doubtless Lucey is a liberal, in the usual sense. On somewhat broader questions and in issues of national concern, for example, he would take courses significantly different from those of his Republican foe.

But it is as curious as it is significant that on the questions that are immediately before them, and truly relevant to the responsibilities of the office for which they are competing, they have few significant quarrels.

On highways, on state government reorganization, conservation, education, state finance, indeed, on most of the problems and concerns of the people of Wisconsin that are legitimately related to the choice of a governor, these men stand close together. Perhaps they do not do so willingly, or even consciously, but they do so nevertheless in fact, because of the inescapable realities of Wisconsin life that they understand better than some of their predecessor candidates who aspired to high office without much previous experience or understanding.

DIFFERENCES

Their difference is one of personality, method, and appearance, which are not easily employed as measures of qualification in the task of catching the ear of an inattentive, or at best a casually interested electorate. Lucey's main weapon is one of derision. He calls Knowles a ribbon cutter. Knowles appears somewhat juiceless to some critics because he is riding on his record, so to speak, and saying nothing very exciting or intriguing about what he wants to do in his second term. Yet these are positions that are probably inherent in the respective roles of challenger and defender.

Lucey's weapons have been invective and scorn because the record has left few vulnerable issues or openings. Knowles' resting on the record is the orthodox position of the incumbent. It is also the prudent role of the incumbent who is being told that he is the favorite. To promise unattainable goals now would be to invite retribution from disappointed constituents later. It is not hard to imagine, for example, that if Lucey is elected, he will run his second term campaign in 1966 in the fashion of orthodox now exemplified by the Republican governor.

Strictly Personal

No One Is Protesting Slaughter on Roads

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

All right, all you good citizens who are so concerned about crime and violence in America. How many of you are willing to support a campaign against by far the greatest menace to life and limb in this nation?

Harris

petitions passed, no flood of letters to our elected officials, no angry outcries against the senseless "violence" in the streets and on the highways.

For we are afraid of losing our own privileges, and for that cheap and cowardly reason we are willing to permit 1,000 auto deaths a week. We demand tougher laws against criminals and rioters — who comprise less than one per cent of the population — but not against the 99 per cent of "respectable citizens" who are responsible for the carnage on the highways.

Not many weeks ago, in the county where I spend my summers, three boys roared through a stop sign at 80 miles an hour, hitting a car and killing five members of the family. The boys were fined a total of $27 and given a 30-day sentence (suspended). I heard nobody complain about this travesty of justice; those who might have complained were all dead.

This happens every week, every day, every hour. It is the largest and most relentless slaughter the world has ever known, claiming more lives than we have lost in all the wars we have fought since the Revolution. Statistically, you are far safer walking down the toughest street in the toughest neighborhood in the toughest city in America than riding along a half-mile from your house. That's where the real violence is to be feared. Are you listening, all you good citizens?

UW Committee Backs Lottery For Servicemen

Student-Faculty Group Picks Best Of Bad Solutions

MADISON (AP) — A University of Wisconsin student-faculty committee endorsed Tuesday a national lottery for selection of servicemen if a compulsory military draft continues.

The six-member committee, set up in May after prolonged anti-draft demonstrations by thousands of students on the UW campus, qualified its opinion by saying, "We choose the lottery only because the alternatives ... appear even less satisfactory."

The committee's recommendations are tentative, subject to approval by a university faculty meeting Nov. 17. The committee said both faculty members and students would have a chance to comment on the 33-page report.

Provide Grades

An additional recommendation by the committee said the university should continue its policy of providing grades and class standings as long as student deferments are granted by the national Selective Service system.

"The use of academic criteria is appropriate, chiefly because we know of no better alternative," the committee report said.

The university's policy before the protests in May was to send academic information to students' draft boards.

Now it sends the information to students for their use as they wish. The committee suggested the university withhold all data unless the student requests it.

Universal military service was specifically rejected in the report.

"We see no compelling reason of security which would justify such regimentation of millions of young people," the committee said.

Indonesians Wonder if Sukarno Will Execute Friend

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Five others convicted of involvement in the coup also have been sentenced to death today that President Sukarno would never sign the execution order for his former closest aide and adviser, Dr. Subandrio. Subandrio, Sukarno's deputy premier until last March and Indonesia's foreign minister for nine years, was sentenced to death for treason Tuesday night by a special military tribunal which found him guilty of aiding the attempted Communist coup last October.

Throughout the trial, Subandrio denied any involvement in the coup.

When asked by the court if he wanted to appeal his sentence, Subandrio said, "No," but the court allowed him 30 days to appeal to Sukarno for clemency.

The tribunal's verdict did not state how or when the death sentence would be carried out.

Some officers were trapped in their quarters by flash fires. Several were brought to safety by search personnel.

The Navy said quick action by plane crews in moving aircraft from the catapult and forward areas of the flight deck and from the burning hangar deck prevented even greater loss.

Battle Action

On the war front, scattered fighting was reported and monsoon storms once again cut heavily into U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam.

U.S. pilots flew only 62 bombing missions Tuesday, well below the usual daily number. U.S. B-52 bombers struck at dawn today against a suspected Viet Cong troop concentration and training site 17 miles northwest of Quang Ngai City near the central coast.

On the ground, helicopter-borne units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division reported killing 48 Viet Cong Tuesday in a long-quiet sector 112 miles northeast of Saigon in coastal Binh Thuan Province.

The cavalrymen, supported by air strikes, had a two-hour firefight with an estimated 150 Viet Cong. The cavalrymen said the Viet Cong broke contact and fled but their escape routes were pounded by U.S. air strikes.

GMC Earnings Lowest for 5-Year Period

Quarter Decreases $164.5 Million From Same Period in '65

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. reported its lowest quarterly earnings in five years — and the third straight three-month period that it lagged behind its 1965 pace.

The world's biggest manufacturing corporation said Tuesday that in the three months ended Sept. 30 it earned $99.5 million, a far cry from the $264 million it chalked up in the same period a year ago.

The earnings were the lowest for the giant of the auto makers since the $87.8 million it earned in the third quarter of 1961.

A big share of the $164.5 million drop in earnings was attributed by GM officials to a decrease in sales.

GM said that in the first nine months of this year, car and truck buyers around the world purchased 4,850,361 GM vehicles — almost half a million fewer than were purchased in the first nine months last year.

The corporation took the biggest share of the beating in the third quarter, when sales were 976,000 vehicles worldwide compared to 1,246,000 in 1965.

Frederick G. Donner, GM chairman, and James M. Roche, president, counseled the report on the slump with predictions of a rosy future for GM.

"While there are some uncertainties in the economy, many business indicators point to the continued expansion of business," they said in a joint statement.

GM was the first of the auto companies to announce its third quarter earnings. Ford and Chrysler are expected to disclose theirs later this week.

There are some who may disagree with what we are doing here but that is not the way most of us feel and act when freedom and the nation's security are in danger.

Left Secretly Johnson left Manila secretly in midafternoon, and headed back there after dark. No official announcement of his trip was made until he was back in the Philippines.

Secret Service agents — an unusually small number.

When one agent tried to get into a jeep with Johnson and Gen. Westmoreland — a routine precaution back home — the general told him to shove off — price a military term meaning go away.

Then, as sweat soaked through the President's shirt and collar, he came off. "One day," Johnson told the troops, "the whole world will acknowledge that what you have done here was worth the price."

Expresses Optimism

At one point, Johnson seemed to express optimism about prospects for an end to the fighting. Speaking with obvious emotion, he said "Soon, when we will receive you back in your homeland with open arms, with great pride and with great thanks."

said it wanted to trim its request by about 40 per cent in each category, approximately the ratio of the total charge.

A request by UW for $11 million to hire 452, new full-time teachers to improve instructional quality was treated separately. The level in this area was set at $6 million for the two-year period.

The state universities set priorities on their programs instead of using an across-the-board approach.

Receiving the top rankings were funds for libraries, teaching materials, student financial aid and new academic programs. These four areas account for more than half the $12 million allocated for improvement programs.

Few Michigan Dems Think Romney Will Fall

By GENE SCHROEDER
DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats aren't saying so publicly, but few believe Gov. George Romney can be beaten in his bid for a third term.

Their goal is to whittle Romney's margin to less than the 585,000-vote plurality he rolled up two years ago—and take the sheen off Romney-for-president talk.

That 1964 victory for Republican Romney came amid a Democratic landslide that won control of the legislature and a majority of Michigan's congressional delegation.

If Romney has White House ambitions—and most everybody believes he has—his standing at the 1968 Republican nominating convention would be considerably enhanced if he could score another big victory, and carry some Republicans into office on his coattails.

More and more, Romney is ignoring his opponent, Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency, and working harder to help Sen. Robert P. Griffin and Sen. Thurston B. Morton against the formidable challenge of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Williams, on the other hand, is expected to visit Michigan before the Nov. 8 balloting. Republicans countered with appearances by Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. William Romney's work for Griffin, and the fact that Williams was sidelined for five weeks by a kidney stone operation.

Romney, incidentally, led Ferency in the poll 64 to 33.

Ferency, a witty and articulate late campaigner who claims he relishes the role of underdog, has kept up a dawn-to-midnight schedule of handshaking and speechmaking, aimed largely at Michigan's big union vote.

Ironically, Republicans—the conservative variety—may hold the key votes in the Romney-Ferency race. Many of them have never forgiven the governor for not backing Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee two years ago.

The Griffin-Williams race matches two veteran politicians who have bitterly challenged each other's record.

On the big national issues—Viet Nam, education, civil rights—Williams and Griffin are not far apart. So the campaigning has centered on the personalities.

Says Williams of Griffin: "He gives the same old reactionary, anti-everything GOP line."

"He voted against widows, orphans, and school kids and college students, and farmers, and city people and even the best interests of the businessmen."

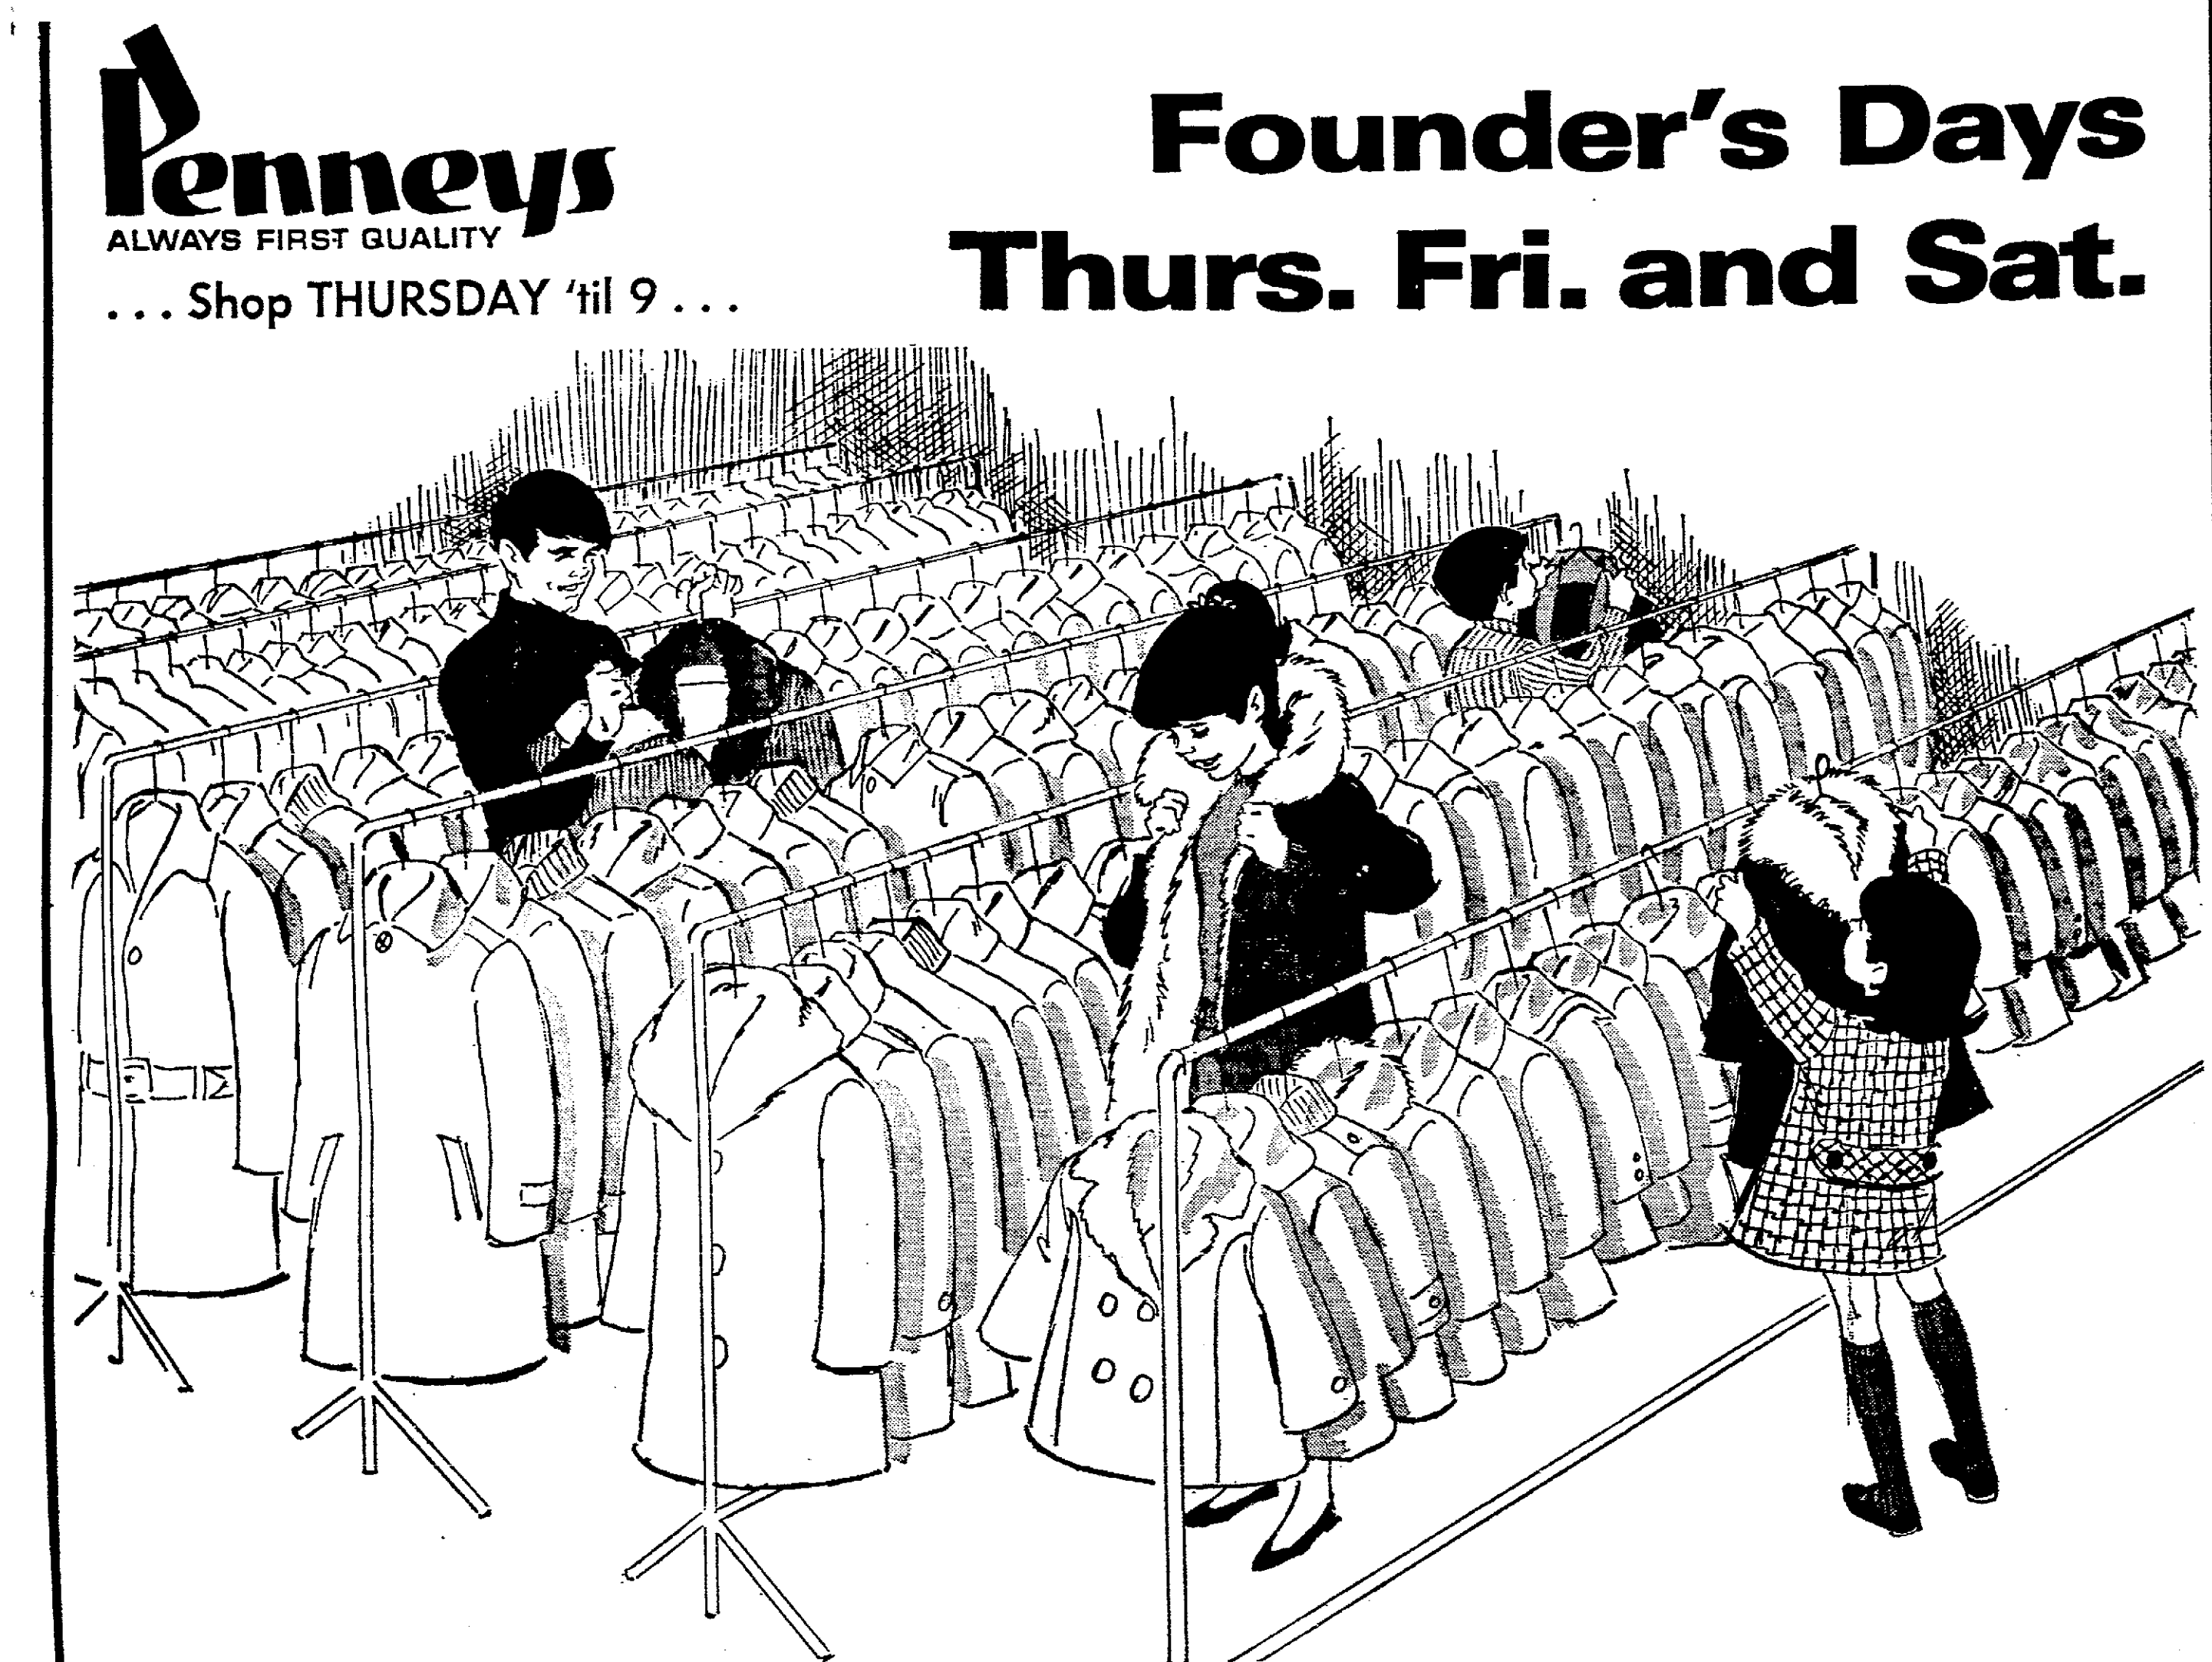

"He actually did all that, and more. It's no distortion."

'Thank You, Daddy,' Makes It All Just Right

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It was her 13th birthday. For years her big goal in life had been to become a teen-ager. And now it had happened to her, and Mother and Dad wanted to make it memorable. And they thought they had done everything in their power. For they wanted it to be a big day for them as well as for their daughter. They decided to give her the presents before they went out for the evening. Dad handed her his present first.

The girl opened the envelope and drew out a birthday greeting card and a $100 bill. Her face flushed in surprise, and then she studied the portrait on the bill carefully. "Benjamin Franklin was never president of the United States," she said suspiciously. "Nevertheless, it's a $100 bill," said Dad. "It's to start the fund for that trip to France you want to make sometime." "Oh," said the girl. She put the bill away in her room and returned and opened her mother's present.

It was a delicate gold charm bracelet. The girl silently put it on. "Tomorrow we can go and pick out your first charm for it," said mother. "Okay," said the girl. There was a pause, and she said, "Well, shall we go now?" As she stepped ahead of them Dad remarked, "Well, she certainly is taking everything in stride, isn't she?" "Hush," said mother. "She'll hear you." "Let her." The supper club was now

She had the ham. A few minutes later she excused herself. Even though she was 13, she was still little girl enough to want to inspect the ladies' lounge. "That kid's spoiled," grumbled father. "Why, when I was that age, if my Dad had done only one half of what we—" "Well, now, dear—" murmured mother tactfully. All is Silence In the taxicab on the way home all three were silent. "Did you like the music?" said Dad. "Considering it was rock 'n' roll, I thought it was pretty good." "I guess it was okay," said the girl abstractedly. Her mind seemed far away.

Later, as the parents were getting ready for sleep, father's pentup resentment burst forth. "They're all spoiled today, that's the trouble. If you ask me, the whole evening was a waste of—" "Daddy," it was their daughter calling from her bedroom. He went to the door. "What do you want?" "Come here." He walked to her bedside. "Bend down." He bent, and her slender childlike arms pulled him farther down, and he felt her lips press his cheeks and she said, "Only a Parent." "Thank you, Daddy, for a wonderful birthday. I know I never have another one this nice as long as I live." He stayed there for a long moment, and knew the gladness that only a parent can know.
